Take Precautions To Keep Mrs. Snyder From Committing Suicide In Cell

JUDD GRAY RESIGNED TO FATE THURSDAY

Gray's Mother Pays Him Visit In Death House; Communications Halted

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Governor Al Smith will announce his decision tomorrow as to whether he will intervene in the scheduled execution of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray set for 11 p. m. Thursday night.

He gave no indication today of his decision, although his previous attitude has been interpreted as sealing the doom of the pair.

SING SING PRISON, OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder was placed under double guard today for fear she would attempt to commit suicide in an effort to cheat the electric chair, in which she is to die Thursday night.

Matrons assigned to watch Mrs. Snyder were cautioned to keep her under the closest surveillance, and another guard was stationed to see that the matrons do not relax their vigilance for a moment.

These precautions were taken after the authorities had uncovered a smuggling plot by means of which Mrs. Snyder was able to send communications to the outside world.

Gray to Make Will

Henry Judd Gray, accomplice of Mrs. Snyder, has arranged to make his will this afternoon. He is fully resigned to his fate. Unlike Mrs. Snyder, he has not the slightest hope

Will Says Kansas Unhappy Over Big Convention

NEWTON, Kan. Jan. 9.—Been passing all day through Kansas, and reading Kansas City papers. They are pretty sore about having the Republicans coming there next June and mangling the town all up. I guess at the Jackson Day dinner in Washington we will draft some town to hold the Democratic one in. Nobody has applied for it; naturally I certainly hope Claremore don't draw it. We are just getting on our feet good there now. I am going through Senator Curtis' range now. He will be hard to beat in this roasting ear belt.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

WARDEN SETS HOUR FOR MRS. SNYDER-GRAY DEATHS

(International News Service)

SING SING PRISON, Ossining, N. Y., Jan 9.—The hour of death for Mrs. Ruth Snyder and her paramour, Henry Judd Gray, has been officially set for 11 o'clock Thursday night.

This announcement was made today by Warden Lawes of Sing Sing prison and marked the completion of the grim plans for the state's determination to exact the extreme toll for the brutal murder of Albert Snyder, art editor and husband of the condemned woman.

Gray will march to his death first, that Mrs. Snyder may be spared passing his cell while he lives, Warden Lawes said.

Commissioners Sit As Appeal Board

Few objections to assessments were registered at the county commissioners office today by residents of Bessemer, Enon and New Wilmington. The commissioners are sitting as a board of appeals and are hearing case in which property owners think their assessmeits are too high. Tomorrow residents of South New Castle borough, Volant and Wampum will be given an opportunity to register their objections.

Senate Inquiry Into Submarine Disaster Looms

Senatorial Investigation Of S-4 Disaster Appears Probable Today

CIVILIAN COMMITTEE PROJECT IS BALKED

Administration Leaders Argue That President Should Appoint Inquiry Board

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—A senatorial investigation of the S-4 submarine disaster, which took a toll of forty lives appeared probable today despite the action of the house in authorizing creation of a special civilian commission to conduct such an inquiry.

The administration's request for an inquiry by acknowledged civilian experts appeared doomed to defeat in the senate because of a prevailing belief among Democrats and Insurgents that it would lead to a "whitewash" of the navy. Leaders of the Democratic-Insurgent coalitin planned to amend the house resolution to provide for a separate congressional inquiry into the S-4 disaster while allowing a civilian commission to investigate new safety devices for submarines.

The coalition relied upon the precedent created when the senate investigated the naval oil leases to support the contention for a separate inquiry into the submarine disaster. Democratic leaders argued that if President Harding had been allowed to name a civilian commission to investigate the Doheny and Sinclair leases, the oil lands might never have been recovered.

Administration leaders were opposed to a division of the inquiry. They maintained that the president would name such prominent civilians to the proposed commission that their findings would be accepted generally as free from bias or political influence. The Republican spokesmen also argued that only submarine experts would be able to adequately fix responsibility for the S-4 disaster and that members of congress would be exposed to political influences in reaching a decision.

Senatorial Inquiry Likely.

As the Democrats and Insurgents control the senate when they combine, it appeared however that a separate senatorial inquiry will be ordered. There was no opposition to the plan for civilians to inquire into new safety devices.

The Democratic viewpoints was ex-

Raymond Winter Pays Penalty In Electric Chair

Pittsburgh Slayer Goes To His Death At Rockview Protesting Innocence

PAYS FOR CRIME THREE YEARS OLD

Doomed Man Sleeps Soundly Until Five O'clock; Philadelphia Man Also Electrocuted

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DEATH HOUSE, ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 9.—With a plea of innocence on his lips, Raymond Winter, 33, convicted of the slaying of two defenseless children paid in full his debt to society at dawn today.

The slayer of little Alex and Helen Sabo, a miner's children whose lifeless bodies were recovered from a creek near Castle Shannon in May, 1925 went to his death in the electric chair at 7:02 a. m. and five minutes later was pronounced dead.

A few minutes later William Myers, of Philadelphia, paid the extreme penalty for the murder of a Philadelphia policeman.

Robert Elliott, official executor for Pennsylvania, New York and other Eastern States, threw the switch that snuffed out the lives of Winter and Myers.

Thursday night, the same executioner will be master of ceremonies at Sing Sing prison, New York, when Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray, the sashweight murderers are the "subjects," as Elliott refers to those who die in his electric chair.

Parents Faithful To Last

Winter's last thoughts were on his grey-haired mother and father back in Pittsburgh, faithful to their son to the last, though there was sufficient evidence against him to convince a jury that it was Winter who bashed in the heads of the tiny victims for no apparent reason, other than a lust for blood, his parents steadfastly maintain their belief in his innocence.

The Winter killing nearly three years ago roused the state as have few others in recent years. Because of the brutality of the slayer in lur-

Lindbergh Is Safe In Panama

Colonel Lindbergh Leaves Costa Rica For Panama On 310-Mile Trip

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD BIDS FLIER ADIEU

(BULLETIN)
(Special To The News)

PANAMA CANAL ZONE, Jan. 9.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, "America's favorite son of the air", virtually completed his Latin-America good will tour today when he arrived here from San Jose, Costa Rica. Lindbergh landed in the Spirit of St. Louis at 1:50 p. m., having flown the 310 miles from San Jose in five hours and seven minutes. The trip was without incident.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Jan. 9—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off at 8:43 o'clock this morning for Panama.

Lindbergh announced that he would hop off at 9 o'clock, but upon reaching the flying field and finding flying conditions so good he decided to leave a few minutes earlier.

A lareg crowd greeted the young American "Air Ambassador" when he left the United States Legation where he had been stopping. The colonel went directly to the flying field and carefully inspected his machine.

The crowd at the field was orderly but enthusiastic and shouted continuous farewells while the motor was being tuned up. Then the plane started across the field, quickly rose in a long, sweeping upward swing and headed for Panama.

310 Mile Trip.

Panama lies 310 miles southeast of San Jose. During this leg of his long Latin-American tour Lindbergh must fly over mountain ranges with smouldering volcanoes and wild desolate forests inhabited only by Indians.

Should be be forced down he would be compelled to land in the wildest wilderness of Latin America.

Col. Lindbergh was tranquil and cheerful when he took off and apparently had no thought of a forced landing in his mind. He bade farewell to the new friends he made here and expressed thanks for the numerous presents he had received. He expected to reach Panama about noon.

Tariff War Opens In U. S. Senate Today

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The tariff war of 1928 opened in the senate this afternoon with a Democratic-Insurgent coalition fighting for adoption of the McMaster resolution putting the senate on record as favoring a reduction in tariffs.

Senator McMaster (R) of South Dakota said the purpose of his resolution was to place agriculture on the same economic level enjoyed by industry.

Marines Await Opportune Time To Battle Rebels

(International News Service)

MANAGUA, Jan. 9.—Although General Sandino's rebels, entrenched in the El Chipote area, are reported to have been receiving new recruits during the past week, the situation is still quiet, with the marines and Nicaraguan constabulary better prepared to give battle because of their own reinforcements.

In the hinterland there has been enthusiasm among Sandino's supporters, owing to the battle a week ago, it is reported, and this has resulted in additional men joining the general's forces.

There are indications that the marines are not planning to attack Sandino until they may be certain of victory without large losses. It is even reported that some new efforts may be made at making peace with Sandino.

Sandino's snipers are still active, but their efforts are proving more or less ineffective.

Accused Doctor Will Enter Plea To Indictment

Dr. Charles McMillin To Go Before Judge To Answer Murder Indictment

EVIDENCE AGAINST DOCTOR IS STRONG

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 9.—Dr. Charles M. McMillan, retired Texas physician, was scheduled to go before Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy this afternoon and enter a plea to the indictment charging him with the murder of the wealthy Chicago widow, Mrs. Amelia Appleby, whose body, bound in a sack, was discovered last Christmas night near San Fernando.

With the doctor's asserted admission that he was in possession of the dead woman's automobile since the approximate date of her disappearance, the sheriff's office here viewed its case as virtually complete, the machine was found in a garage rented by the accused man.

The prosecution, it was indicated today, will depend heavily on the testimony of Mrs. Harry Panagos, a friend of the murdered widow of John S. Appleby, inventor of binder twine. Mrs. Panagos, according to authorities, has informed investigators that Mrs. Appleby came to her on several occasions with stories of being threatened by Dr. McMillan.

LONDON CONTINUES TO BATTLE FLOOD

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Although today's early tide rose and fell without breaking down the temporary sand bag barriers, extra precautions were still being taken all along the Thames riverfront to prevent another flood such as on Saturday brought death and destruction to the heart of London.

An army of workmen was ready to guard the barriers until tomorrow morning, when the highest tide of the series is expected. During today's early tide the waters never reached a level of more than three feet from the top of the embankments at any point.

Thousands of persons, making of the flood danger a sort of holiday sight, gathered to witness the early tide's rise. Although it was announced that the possibility of the tide's rising above the embankments was extremely remote, Londoners re-

Governor Smith's Refusal To Attend Dinner Causes Stir

Democrats Are Perturbed By Attitude Shown By "Favorite Son" Towards Dinner

William Gibbs McAdoo Slated Prominent Speaker At "Harmony" Dinner

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Gov. Al Smith's refusal to attend the Jackson day "harmony" dinner here next Thursday night has had the rather curious effect of centering the spotlight upon his arch-opponent, William G. McAdoo.

Mr. McAdoo is not a candidate for the 1928 nomination. He has declared himself out of the picture. Yet he has accepted an invitation to be one of the principal speakers of the evening, and it is an obvious fact that the rank and file of Democrats are more interested in what Mr. McAdoo is going to say than in the speeches of the candidates themselves.

Momentous Event.

A good many Democratic leaders are somewhat uneasy over the prospects. They recognize that this dinner, which brings together more than a thousand party leaders from all sections of the country, and the attendant orator, is fraught with considerable good or evil to the fortunes of the party. It will mark the first occasion since the disastrous 1924 rout that there has been any serious effort among the leading Democrats of the country to come together and take stock of the party assets and liabilities. Every candidate for the 1928 nomination, save Smith, will be present, and most of them will speak. The Democratic governor of every state has been invited and most of them will attend. Forty-eight state chairmen have been asked, as well as all the Democrats in congress, and dozens of distinguished ex-this and ex-that.

Mr. McAdoo presents to most of the leaders who are praying for party harmony the biggest question mark of the gathering. Whether he wishes it or not, and irrespective of his semi-retirement, he eptiomizes the anti-Smith element of the party.

Leaders Perturbed.

Should the former secretary of the treasury, in his speech, join with other leaders in a plea for Democratic harmony and for the bandaging of those terrible wounds of 1924, it will be accepted by most of his hearers that the nomination of Smith is inevitable. McAdoo is about the only anti-Smith rallying post that is left and if his speech is indicative of his willingness, however passive, to see his 1924 rival nominated, it will be about all over but the shouting, in the opinion of most Democratic observers here.

If, on the other hand, Mr. McAdoo should wave aloft an anti-Smith banner, and signify the intention of himself and his friends to block the nomination of the Tammany governor, if possible, then a good many uneasy party leaders believe "it will be 1924 all over again."

Most Democratic leaders concede that Mr. McAdoo has lost much of the following he had in 1924, but

Grand Jury Will Consider Charge Against Mrs. West

Indictment To Be Returned In Claw-Hammer Murder At Painesville

MANY WITNESSES WILL BE HEARD

(International News Service)

PAINESVILLE, Ohio, Jan. 9—Fifteen men and women composing the Lake county grand jury were to convene here today to consider a charge of first degree murder against twenty-one year old Velma West, in connection with the claw-hammer slaying of her husband, Edward West, 26, at Perry, O., near here, December 6.

Prosecuting Attorney Seth Paulin has indicated that he will attempt to obtain a first degree murder indictment against the youthful widow.

A confession of the accused woman, said by Sheriff Edward Rasmussen to have been obtained the day following the murder, will be presented to the grand jury, according to Paulin.

Common Pleas Judge Arlington G. Reynolds will instruct the grand jury, after which a foreman will be selected.

The West case will be the first of a number considered by the grand jury, it was said. A score or more of witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear before the body, and taking of testimony will require two days or longer, Prosecutor Paulin predicted.

Rescuers Work Frantically To Reach Entombed

More Than 100 Miners In Section Of Illinois Mine As Explosion Occurs

REPORTS ARE MEAGER ON CASUALTY LIST

Explosion Occurs Mile From Mine Shaft And 500 Feet Underground

(International News Service)

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Jan. 9.—Working frantically to save more than 100 miners entombed in the Industrial Coal Co. mine No. 18 here from "black damp" poisonous gases, volunteer rescue crews, headed by the Benton, Ill., mine rescue team, bent every effort to reach the men caught 500 feet below the surface and almost a mile from the mine shaft by an explosion shortly after the day shift of 500 men went to work this morning.

There were 135 men believed to have been in the section of the mine where the blast occurred, but several of these are known to have escaped and returned to their homes.

George Watkins, who escaped, said he saw at least 10 bodies of men, dead or unconscious, lying in the mine passageways as he groped his way from the dreaded gas area.

Watkins said he escaped the effects of the gas by tearing off his flannel shirt and wrapping it around his head to keep from inhaling the poison fumes.

A volunteer rescue team from the Peabody mines at Taylorville also has left for West Frankfort.

Battle Develops Over S-4 Probe

President Coolidge's Request For Civilian Committee Probe Causes Stir

SECRET SESSION IS UNABLE TO AGREE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—A real battle over President Coolidge's request for a civilian commission to investigate the S-4 submarine disaster developed today at a secret session of the senate naval affairs committee.

After a two hour session, the committee postponed until Thursday further action on the resolution adopted by the house, which would create a commission of civilian experts to investigate the disaster. Democratic members of the committee held out for a senatorial investigation of the submarine tragedy, which cost forty lives.

The fight against the president's request was led by Senators Swanson (D) of Virginia, Walsh (D) of Massachusetts, and King (D) of Utah.

STRICT GUARD IS BEING MAINTAINED OVER MRS. SNYDER

that Governor Alfred E. Smith or anyone else will intervene.

Gray, it is reported, will leave most of his property to his daughter, Jane. He will not entirely cut off his wife, Mrs. Isabel K. Gray, however, although she has visited him but once since he entered the death house.

Mrs. Snyder already has made her will. She left most of her belongings to her daughter, Lorraine.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes said this morning that Mrs. Snyder is bearing up well under the strain of the approaching execution. Her appetite is normal, although at times she has been highly nervous.

Gray Is Calm

Gray maintains his stoical calm. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Gray, after visiting him, said:

"Judd has come to his right mind. He is again like the Judd that I know. My poor boy."

Mrs. Gray has repeatedly declared she has never been able to understand the Judd Gray who became infatuated with the blonde Mrs. Snyder, deceived his wife, forgot his daughter, his home and all his religious training and ended with murdering Albert Snyder, the home-loving husband, with a sashweight.

Cell Is Changed

Mrs. Snyder's cell was changed as a precaution this morning. She was given new clothing and different furnishing and bed clothing were provided for her. The authorities were determined to put an end to secret communication with her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, by putting notes in the matron's lavatory in the death house. Access to the lavatory has been refused to both Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Brown.

A thorough search was made in the lining of the mattress in Mrs. Snyder's cot, as well as in the clothing she wore, for a weapon or contraband articles. Nothing was found.

An entirely new set of furnishings was put in the cell to which the condemned woman was transferred. She made no comment on the change.

Not To See Gray

Mrs. Snyder and Gray will not have to suffer the torture of seeing each other on the way to the execution chamber. Warden Lawes is determined upon that point. He is seeking a way to allow the woman to be the first to die, yet avoid their seeing each other.

The cell of Mrs. Snyder, in the women's section of "death row," is about 160 feet from the electric chair. It will take her about thirty or forty seconds to traverse this distance—through two passages and four doors. Passing through the third door, Mrs. Snyder will walk past six last-minute cells, where men prisoners are taken just before they are electrocuted. In one of these cells will be Gray. Thus it would be inevitable that the former lovers would have a last tragic glimpse of each other.

Gray's electrocution may be delayed five or ten minutes to allow Mrs. Snyder to pass by empty cells in the men's row. And then, after she is dead, he could be taken to his last-minute cell.

Then, again, Warden Lawes may decide to have Gray die first. That was the plan as late as Saturday night, but no definite decision has yet been made.

There was a procession of the morbidly curious to the prison today. Except for relatives of Mrs. Snyder, attorneys and newspaper men, they were quickly turned away. No automobiles, except those of persons having business at the prison, were allowed in the prison grounds.

Crowds View Prison

Cars were parked on the roads off from the jail, however, and people sat in them watching the gloomy walls of the prison for hours. Those parked on high spots could see the gray figures of prisoners exercising in one of the yards but none had a glimpse of either Gray or Mrs. Snyder.

The warden indicated he would be lenient in allowing relatives to visit the condemned couple during the next few days. Mrs. Snyder's strained face brightened this morning when she was told that her daughter, Lorraine, might be allowed to visit her.

"I'd give anything to see my child again," she said, "but I will not see her if I must stay behind these bars. If they will only tell her I am in the hospital and permit me to see her in a corridor or in one of the rooms I would be so happy."

Gray's wife, it was reported, may come to see him once more—and only once—before he dies in that sinister contraption known as the electric chair.

M. LOY HANNA DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Musician And Merchant Passes Away After Brief Illness

Martin Loy Hanna, aged 73, of 309 North Mercer street, member of one of New Castle's older and best known families, also one of the city's foremost musicians and older established merchants, died Sunday at 6:45 a. m. in St. Francis hospital, Pittsburgh of acute peritonitis. Although his last illness was of recent inception, he had been in failing health for some time.

In the death of Mr. Hanna, this city loses not only one of its best known citizens but its oldest merchant, he having been continuously in the music business for 56 years in Washington street locations, being the owner of a music store on the Public Square at the time of his death.

He was a natural musician, having that rare gift of expression that is not common, even among the better known musicians of the present day. He was an accomplished player of the organ, piano and cello. It was in the playing of the latter instrument that he was better known in recent years, being a member of the New Castle Consistory orchestra, in which he played that instrument.

Mr. Hanna was born in this city, April 31, 1854, the son of James C. and Margaretta Loy Hanna and had spent his entire life here. He had been identified all his life with the use and sale of musical instruments.

His father James C. Hanna, a watchmaker, came to this city in 1848, traveling here on a canal boat, the nearest railroad being at Enon Valley. The father added a jewelry business to his business of watchmaker and eventually added musical instruments.

M. Loy Hanna as a youth of seventeen years became associated with the business of J. C. Hanna, later becoming a partner under the firm name of J. C. Hanna & Son. In 1895, when the business became known as Hanna & Eroe by reason of W. J. Eroe entering the business, M. Loy Hanna relinquished his interest in the jewelry business and assumed charge and ownership of the music department, his father relinquished his connection with that business at the same time. He had been connected with the music business in this way since seventeen years of age until the time of his death.

On September 12, 1878, Mr. Hanna was united in marriage with Mary Baker, daughter of Dr. M. P. Baker. She preceded him in death in 1903.

He was a lifelong member of the First Presbyterian church and was a member of the building committee, which had charge of the erection of the present church edifice of that congregation.

He was an active member of the following Masonic organizations: Lodge of the Craft No. 433, F. & A. M., Delta Royal Arch Chapter No. 170, Hiram Council No. 45, Royal and Select Master Masons, Lawrence Commandery No. 62, Knights Templar, New Castle Consistory, S. P. R. S., and Syria Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S. He was also a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association and the New Castle Consistory Orchestra.

He is survived by one son, Carl L. Hanna of this city.

The body was removed from Pittsburgh to the Offutt Funeral Home, 211 North Mercer street, Sunday evening. Funeral services will be held Tuesday, January 10, 1928 at 3 p. m. at the Offutt Funeral Home, 211 North Mercer street. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

there is still enough of it left to make a mockery of party harmony if the ex-treasury head cares to do it.

In Jackson day dinners of former years, it was always William Jennings Bryan who presented the question mark among the speakers. This will be the first Jackson day gathering of Democrats in a quarter-century at which Bryan has not been a central figure. His place in the spotlight has been taken, for this dinner at least, by the tall, angular son-in-law of the last Democratic president.

What the result will be remains to be seen. A lot of uneasy Democratic leaders in Washington would like to know.

Piles Disappear
No Cutting or Salves Needed
External treatments seldom banish Piles.
Nor does cutting remove the cause.
The cause is inside—bad circulation.
The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.
The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.
To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.
J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McKee's Kut Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

The Hi-Y. club basketball team is receiving much favorable comment. Mr. Leonard declades on the brand of ball that they play and especially as to their showing against the basketball team of the Butler Hi-Y club Saturday afternoon when the local boys defeated Butler by a score of 21 to 18.

Venezie Now Claims Was Never Arrested

Dominick Venezie of 511 Johns street, who is in the New Castle hospital from gunshot wounds inflicted by Walter Dewberry who is alleged to have shot Venezie while "peeping" in a window of his home, now denies the story which he was alleged to have told following the shooting, to the effect that he had been arrested three years ago for a somewhat similar offense. He says now that he was never arrested.

ACCUSE BOYS OF TAKING LEAD AT FIRST CHURCH

Detective Logan and Officer Nelson on Saturday afternoon rounded up four boys, whom they found taking lead from windows of the destroyed First U. P. church. The boys had secured about a bushel basket full of lead, when stopped by the police. They were breaking the windows in many instances in order to get the lead, used in putting the decorated windows together. They were before Mayor William H. Gillespie Sunday, who discharged them, after giving them a good lecture on their actions.

VERDICT IS TAKEN IN S. A. LEVINE CASE

Verdict by agreement was taken at court this morning in the case of the Endicott Johnson Corporation against S. A. Levine. The verdict was for $567.53 alleged to be due on a bill for shoes.

January 7, 1928.

Dear Brother Lion:

We have some latent musical talent in our club which we do not hear very often. The entertainment committee has promised that these boys will perform for us next Tuesday. Besides these we will have other entertainment outside of the club which we know will be fine.

Cordially yours,
T. I. ELLIOTT, Secy.

POLICE COURT SESSION BRIEF

Session of police court this morning was brief. It consisted of two men charged with being drunk and two charged with being drunk and disorderly.

Mayor William H. Gillespie disposed of the several cases in short order, fines with the privilege of spending several days in the county jail were meted out.

The two drunks were assessed fines of $5 each with the privilege of five days in jail. One paid, while the other will likely pay up. The two men charged with being drunk and disorderly were assessed $10 each, which they paid.

Over the week end there was one man charged being drunk, who is spending five days in jail in default of a $5 fine.

West Side W. C. T. U.

West Side W. C. T. U. held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. F. D. Allen Friday afternoon. The devotional period was led by Mrs. Allen, evangelism director. Scripture reading was from Isaiah II. Observed international prayer day in behalf of prohibition at this time.

Prayer was offered for those of the union who are ill, including Mrs. McCleary, Mrs. Cotton, Mrs. Ray and Mrs. Maybray and all who were not able to be present.

A number of dues were received, flower money six or seven dollars for jello. Articles for the Union Signal were read and discussed, among them being "Progress of Alcohol Movement in Europe" and Mrs. Catts Peace Pledge, also "The Tongue is Mightier Than the Sword."

Mrs. Griffith gave her experience as a juror in a murder trial which was most interesting. She stressed the fitness of intelligent women to sit on juries and not to ask to be excused when called.

The following report was given:

Two baskets of food for needy, $5 in money, $5 for small articles to Australia, ten articles of baby clothes, two plants, many cards to sick and shut-ins, Christmas books, four services a week held in hospital, work in Americanization house.

The next meeting will be held in February.

DON'T STARVE TO END FAT
Few succeed without harm. Try the modern way, embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen everywhere.
Marmola contains a gland element which helps turn food into fuel and energy. The formula appears in every box, also the reasons for results. Thus you will know how the changes occur without harm.
All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Go start it now. Take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Do this because of the new beauty and vim which Marmola has brought to so many, for so long.

NEW IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

THE Southwest is disturbed over the large number of Mexicans immigrating into its cities and agricultural sections. It is alarmed because there are more Mexicans in Los Angles than in any city in Mexico with the exception of Mexico City and Quadalajara.

At first glance this plaint is like that often made in the East. Eastern cities view with alarm the fact that some of their foreign colonies have a larger population than the largest city in the native country of their inhabitants. One city has more Irish than Dublin, another more Lithuanians than the capital of Lithuania, another more Hungarians than Budapest.

But there is now a distinct difference between these two cases. The gates have been closed against the immigration that formerly flooded the East, whereas the Southwest is open to virtually unrestricted immigration from Central and South America. Moreover, thousands of excluded orientals and Europeans are smuggled across the Rio Grande and settle in the Southwest.

No complete census has been made recently of the Mexicans in the Southwest. There are two classes of them—the older stock which has lived there for generations and the recent wave of transient laborers. The former are American citizens and mostly of pure Spanish blood. The immigrant Mexican laborers are largely Indian in blood.

Whether these people south of the Rio Grande should be excluded as are the Europeans will soon have to be decided. This immigration is bringing many undesirables into the United States and is in direct competition with unskilled American labor.

THE PRESIDENTIAL HANDSHAKE

SINCE time immemorial presidents have been making New Year's resolutions to limit their handshaking to one an hour, or some such conservative number, but open house is a New Year's day custom at the white house and invariably the chief executive, in spite of his good resolutions, is nursing a swollen right hand and arm the next day.

This year was no exception to the rule. Out of solicitation for the president's health and comfort it is announced that the bow or nod will supplant the friendly handclasp at white house receptions where large numbers await introduction to the president. The line forms; the president appears; the last visitor departs leaving the man in the white house with a sore hand and limp arm. Somehow the older form of greeting continues.

The handshake is regarded throughout America as the symbol of democracy, equality and friendship. Politicians use it to get votes and salesmen use it to get business. Most Americans consider it the citizen's prerogative to grasp the president's hand, and most presidents recognize the advantage of granting this boon.

While every citizen without immediate prospects of coming in handclasping distance with the president would sympathetically sustain the latter should he discontinue the practice, a chief executive so bold as to attempt it would be branded forever an undemocratic and un-American in the minds of every Washington visitor returning homeward with his right hand unblessed by contact with that of the first man of the land.

The white house incumbent was not lacking in the courage required to announce "I do not choose to run in 1928," to oppose a farm subsidy, soldiers' bonus and federal pay raise, to fish for trout with worms and to rebuke the powerful United States chamber of commerce. Greater courage hath no man. Yet it is not great enough to refuse the outstretched hand.

DO THEY DISLIKE US?

SO MUCH has been published about a dislike of America that appears to be growing in Europe that many Americans had begun to accept this national unpopularity as an actual condition to be encountered wherever the American tourist turns. But there seems to have been some exaggeration or unwarranted generalities. Home-coming travelers are now insisting that there is no such unanimity of sentiment.

Many Americans who visited Southern Europe this past year bring the report that the United States is actually popular in Italy, and that, strange to say, the good feeling is increasing. Travelers to Czechoslovakia repeat the story of other recent years—that the Czechs still exhibit the same enthusiastic good-will for America, and for much the same reason, that the Americans entertained good-will for France after the American Revolution.

One of the most inspiring celebrations of American Independence Day ever encountered by a group of American tourists was witnessed in Poland, and in the allied countries no Armistice Day passes without public recognition of the aid given them in the World War by the American people.

It is not probable that Central or Southeastern Europe has wholly forgotten the post-war relief that came from beyond the Atlantic. And it is not less likely that many Europeans can see America's side in the debt settlement controversy. The anti-American utterances and demonstrations, now almost forgotten, were but the ravings of politicians and small groups spurred by emotion rather than reason.

Exercise alone should give you slender lines. Look at the tongue.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:52. Sun rises tomorrow 7:23.

We can't remember that a single prediction that the world would end on a certain date ever came true.

Unmarried men are more apt to lose their minds than married men and men worrying over the prospect of getting married also go cocoo. This shows that unmarried men have a lot to go through before they finally get settled.

The motorists' principal bother is that after the first five thousand miles there is no place to go.

A prominent minister in Philadelphia has asked the people in that city to pray for the new mayor and his cabinet so they will do right. Most any mayor and his cabinet need praying for in any city, so it's a good thing for people to pray for their officials and in addition try to do the right thing by them to keep them from going wrong. Throwing bricks at the mayor and his cabinet will not help any. Encourage them with kind words because they have a job in their hands in any city.

Probably it is because every dog has his day that cats are wise enough to roam about during the night time.

Ten persons were arrested in Mexico for being in a plot to assasinate the only candidate left for president of that country. Isn't America the wonderful place in which to live?

All the third rate citizens are not in the third class cities.

One automobile company is advertising that no two cars of it's make will be of the same color. That will be exclusiveness all right.

The Berlin newspaper which stated that the United States is a warlike nation probably was in France during the late fuss over there.

About a whole week of 1928 has blown away already. We are going fast.

Hon. Frederick H. Wallace, of New York and deputy police commissioner and commissioner of correction will speak in this city at the First M. E. church on Friday, January 17, at 8 p. m. Every law abiding citizen and also those who are not law abiding should hear Mr. Wallace. He is one of the most wonderful speakers in America and those who hear him will agree with us. He should have a crowded house.

Swearing in office is nothing in the line of profanity compared to that which takes place before the term is ended.

People who fool themselves are really worse off than those who let other people fool them.

In Philadelphia a ruling has been made to the effect that a mail wagon has to obey the same traffic laws as do other wheeled vehicles. And why not? We know a mail wagon driver who had that forced on him in the mayor's office in this city some years ago and he was going to bring the whole government at Washington to New Castle but the $25 and costs still stands. Make 'em all obey the rules.

It depends upon what the printer is setting it in how fine a type of a man he is.

Some people are beginning to worry about President Coolidge's future. We think that gentleman will be able to take care of himself very nicely without any assistance outside his own family.

Well at any rate, the reckless and drunken motorist has made us the most athletic people on earth. We can jump quicker and farther than any other race.

We have not as yet seen a new automobile that did not look good to us, even the lowest priced ones. We think the automobile is one of the greatest inventions of the age. We have three cars and if we had the room we would buy another one just to help the dealers and garage men along.

A bird deserted his wife and ran away with her older sister. Just think of two girls falling for a bimbo like that.

We have an idea that about the best relief that could be given to the farmers of America would be to build a hard road in front of their farms or through them or around them so they could be out of the mud. We have an idea that only a small percentage of the farms in America can be rached by improved roads.

The hard part of being sick is making the doctor think you are sick without making him think you babyish.

Turn about is fair play, so a Snakes Rest woman who used to shave her husband's neck twice a week, now has her hair bobbed and Friend Husband must do the same chore for her.

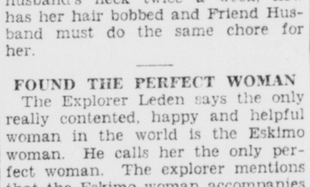

FOUND THE PERFECT WOMAN

The Explorer Leden says the only really contented, happy and helpful woman in the world is the Eskimo woman. He calls her the only perfect woman. The explorer mentions that the Eskimo woman accompanies her man on his expeditions, sharing all the hardships and rigors of the Arctic climate, and in the face of the difficulties always maintains her infallible pluck and good humor. When a sledge journey is to be made she usually goes ahead to break the way. That's fine. Will Explorer Leden now tell us what the men do?

Gertrude Atherton says that a law should forbid girls to marry before they are 22. This is a great age for saying things, and anybody can say anything, especially that popular opinions are terribly confused, with all the saying that is done.

Some bird sure must have been in a hurry the night of the fire at the First United Presbyterian church. Dumping a still in another man's property in such an emergency is a pretty mean trick. Why he might even have put it in our backyard.

Tippy Richards was some football player and some captain. And best of all, Coach Bridenbaugh says he was a self made star. We hope he continues to shine and feel that New Castle will be better for his being here.

Don't let your husband have money to burn. He might find some old flame to help him do it.

Hand cards to the jaywalker. That's a good one. Thot this was a free country. It won't be long until we common folks won't have any rights left. Streets were made to walk on and feet were in use before automobiles. However wise men never take a chance. Neither should the pedestrian.

Overhead is the bane of all business and all homes. Also cities. Corporations sift out the unnecessary and keep the producers. It would work well in homes. Also cities.

Charity is something that gives all and receives nothing in return. That's providing it's real charity. Too often charity is done for the glory of individuals or organizations. But why want glory for doing that which is right?

Two classes that don't know the farmers want are congressmen and farmers.

It is very likely that in 1950 the careful mother will insist on parachutes when her daughter goes out riding with a young man.

After visiting this country a Filipino noticed with interest the various restrictions imposed and went home and told his fellow countrymen to keep still about liberty.

The perfect home might be described as the one where everybody agrees at once on what to tune in for on the radio.

Airplane manufacture in the United States in 1927 reached a total of 1,186. A large increase in production is expected this year and again in 1929. But it will be several years yet before planes will be turned out as rapidly as automobiles.

The remarkable thing about this age is that you can see as much in one year as you used to be able to see in 20.

A humorous writer in Chicago takes a slam at the people of Arkansas by saying that some of them are still voting for Andrew Jackson. That man should be reminded that it wasn't the people of Chicago who elected William Hale Thompson, mayor.

Clarence Darrow says he got but $65,000 for defending Loeb and Leopold. Clarence made a good job of it but says the fee was "small potatoes." There are some barristers who would consider that amount a whole year's salary if they had it at any one time.

William Randolph Hearst claims that President Coolidge declined to examine the evidence in the Mexican bribe case. We are of the opinion that William Randolph didn't examine it very closely before he paid out $16,000 for it.

In the world's smallest republic an election was held and a president chosen without the use of bullets or a protected ballot. This was at Andorra, located between France and Spain. Perhaps they are not yet used to the ways of the western republics.

Operating on a man in Oregon surgeons located his stomach above his heart. Many a homely girl has found the way to a man's stomach is through his heart and maybe this is one of that type of men.

A man has been frozen to death near Jacksonville, Fla., supposedly in the last cold snap that stretched to the southern shores. Coupled with those people who are reported starving to death down there Florida doesn't have much to recommend it to northerners this year.

Red birds seen in this neighborhood are said to be a sign of spring and perhaps they are. But we will wait for a few weeks yet and see what the groundhog has to say about it.

The Democratic National committee is reported to be facing a very large deficit. What the Democratic party needs is an Andy Mellon, but you won't find one in the party when they learn how to do things and make money they get in with the Republicans—the grand old party

The favorite sons trying to look like they had a chance at the nomination is a pathetic incident in the lives of some men.

Chief Yowlache of the Yakima tribe is going into grand opera. His name indicates talents more suited to radio broadcasting.

Another thing: Calles trying to buy the United States senate would be like a fellow with four bits trying to hire an alienist.

Snow and Sunshine.
Surprising Mr. Sandino.
Fat Body—Tired Heart.
Forty the Best Age.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

HODGE, Cal., Jan. 9—Eastern visitors wonder at little striped awnings seen at the driver's window on California automobiles. Driving about southern California, they soon understand. Without such awnings sunshine makes the driving wheel too hot for pleasant driving.

On this Mojave table land, 2,000 feet above the Pacific, the sun is less hot, snakes and lizards hibernate, but onions and other crops grow through the winter. And nothing grows unless you plant and irrigate it, therefore there are no weeds. Onion growers will know what that means.

In nearby mountains, 4,000 feet higher than this desert, the snow lies very deep. Los Angeles people motor up to Big Bear for skiing and tobogganing and return with snow piled high on running boards and mud guards to let neighbors see what it looks like. You find variety here.

Mr. Sandino, Nicaraguan rebel who shot our marines—getting his money ammunition and khaki uniforms from "some other country," according to Colonel Gulick, is said to be fleeing to the forests with his men. It took Uncle Sam a long time to persuade Sandino that killing our men is dangerous pastime. Many Mexicans, to this day, believe that they could beat the United States easily enough, if it were not for Texas, which won't let them. They have fought Texans and know what that means.

The navy plans to send a flock of airplanes carrying reinforcements of marines to Nicaragua, on a non-stop flight. That excellent idea should have a wholesome effect. Instead of sending a few planes, we should be able to send a swarm of a thousand and on the trip let gentlemen that send ammunition to Sandino know what sort of trouble they are inviting.

Even a few planes, from our pathetic little collection, will have some effect. Gringos, writing letters in Washington, then swiftly backing down when anything happens, are not convincing to Mexicans.

But Gringos dropping solid, explosive messages from the air would be most convincing.

In one way or another this country should uphold its treaty rights for a Nicaraguan canal and prove that it takes seriously President Coolidge's warnings and accusations of last January and last April, concerning Mexico's conspiracy, and secret warfare against the United States.

If you are too fat, you treat your heart unjustly. So says Dr. James McLester. The heart works harder to carry extra weight, but that is only part of it. Fifty to 100 useless pounds of weight represent endless billions of living cells that demand nourishment, heat, water and their added share of the energy that causes metabolism or change of tissue.

Extra weight tires the body, brain and heart, constituting a "loafer class," idle rich class in the system that shortens life, diminishes comfort and usefulness. In that a human body is like a government. Idle rich that consume and contribute nothing, except silly opinions, are harmful to the entire body politic and a way should be found to make them work.

An insane person is not allowed to control his property. Is there any good reason why an idle, non-productive drone should be allowed to control his? That may sound like the dreaded "Bolshevism" now. But some day it will become necessary to recall earnestly Prudhomme's warning, "monarchies are destroyed by poverty, republics are destroyed by wealth."

B. C. Forbes says that great banking houses, notably Morgan & Co., biggest of the aggressively enterprising firms, admit to partnership men about 40 years old. Davison, Lamont, Morrow and other important Morgan partners were taken in at 40, the age supposed to combine sound judgment with power to carry a heavy load.

In other days 40 began the "graybeard" age. Great careers, Alexander and Napoleon, the two most spectacular, were over at that age. Age is pushed farther and farther back and the J. P. Morgan of 200 years hence may be selecting 75-year-old partners for their "combination of mental and physical strength."

Senator Capper of Kansas seeks reduction in railroad freights on grain. Not all farmers realize that Uncle Sam's money has been spent to make it impossible for farmers in some parts of the United States to compete with Canadian farmers. Northwest Canadian wheat reaches our east coast and Europe through the Panama canal, at low freight rates. This country built the canal at the same rate as Americans pay.

Farmers in this country, away from the seaboard, pay very high railroad freights to either coast and cannot compete with more fortunately placed Canadians. That applies to products other than grain.

Railroads must live and grow, of course. But if the government cannot or should not reduce freights on grain, why not give a bounty or subsidy to farmers unfortunately situated. Better still, why not build canals, as Europe does, and give farmers water transportation to the Atlantic and the Gulf?

Divorce note. A woman never divorces a man she reveres and she joyously reveres a man who is worth it.

"If your aim's good ther hain't nothin' better'n a pair o' book ends t' knock a husban' off with," declared Mrs. Em Moots this mornin'.

"I wouldn' like t' say fer sure, Jedge. It might have been liquor, but it smelled more like a burned cut bearin'," said Constable Plum when Judge Pusey asked him about Mrs. Joe Pine's breath.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

ENDURANCE

Importance depends on endurance. Endurance is the retention through time of an achievement of value. Thus says Whitehead in Science and the Modern World.

Endurance is the real test of a man. It is something that we can all have. If we can do nothing else we can hang on and remain the same.

Sometimes this is mere pigheadedness and stubborness. But in this world of fluctuating values and fluctuating men it is a pleasure to find something stable.

One of the strongest pleas of the Roman Catholic church is that it has endured throughout the ages and is still going strong.

Whatever has endured for a length of time must have some merit to it.

The life of an organism depends upon its ability to adjust itself to its surroundings. Life is a tragedy for the unfit.

A man is in perfect health when he can breathe the air, enjoy the sunshine and partake of the food that is offered him, and his lungs, his stomach and his other organs are attuned to his environment.

If they become out of tune or, in other words, he becomes unfit, nature eliminates him.

Emerson says that the best test of a book and the finest critic was time, and advised us, as a whole, to read no book that had not been printed twenty years.

Time has dealt harshly with some popular favorites, while others have survived.

Some of the popular songs our ancestors sang are still popular. No one could tell at the time which they were, but the passing of the years has tested them.

It is perhaps a wise thing not to build a monument to a man before he is dead. Time must have its opportunity to pass upon him.

There is something in mere endurance, and the man who is able to stick a thing out to the bitter end has the advantage over one who is constantly changing.

Do not stick to a thing simply because you have chosen it, but after choosing if wisely keep your feet firm and do not vacillate.

Tomorrow—Good Will.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE KERATOSAURUS.

"And now, will you believe, in the name of our Lord, that I and ten of my Indians saw again on Christmas afternoon, Leemore's terrible monster!"

"As big as ten elephants, it passed like a hurricane across the frozen river, smashing immense blocks of thick ice into the air. Its long bristles were covered with hoar-frost, and its immense red eyes flamed in the twilight. The monster held in its mouth a caribou of close to 700 pounds, while it carerred at twenty miles per hour!"

Such is the second mention and description of the monster reported by Tom Lemore, a Yukon miner, of the Keratosaurus of the Arctic Circle, gigantic prehistoric creature that is now again exciting world sportsmen and scientists, along with the discovery of an unsuspected mountain range in Northeastern Siberia which may be its home.

Maps of Siberia will have to be changed by the discovery, only yesterday as it were, of this newly named Cherski Range, 625 miles long, 180 miles wide and covering an area greater than the Caucasus. It was found by the explorer, Obruchev, sent by the Soviet Government in 1926 to investigate the unknown regions beyond Yakutsk, east of the River Lena.

"This was probably the last mountain range remaining to be discovered on the globe," say the Russian papers. Will the Russian Geological Survey and the Academy of Sciences, sending special expeditions to it, come on authentic facts about the giant saurian?

The speaker of the words in the opening paragraph of this story was Father Lavagneux, a Jesuit Priest in the Yukon, who with Tom Lemore, Georges Dupuy, veteran correspondent of the "Paris Auto" and a San Francisco Banker named Butler, are the only persons who assert that they have seen the monster. Tom Lemore saw it alone and told his story to the others. Some days later—it was in July—Dupuy and Lemore were taking coffee on Father Lavagneux's porch when Butler came to them very much excited.

"Do you know that there are prehistoric giant flesh-eating lizards alive up here?" were his first words.

"Last night, I and the Indians went after three moose", he said. "Suddenly, the male moose, let out a bellow and off they went at breakneck speed. What could it be? At the moose-leak, we saw the prodigy! Fresh in the mud was the print of a gigantic body. The belly made a gully four feet deep, fifty feet long, and perhaps twenty feet wide. Four vast feet, nearly two yards across, had made a lot of prints. Horrifying, above all, was the pile of greenish, wine-colored manure, smoking fresh, three cubic yards wide! It was the excrement of no possible living animal—and not produced by the digestion of vegetable matter!" The four sallied forth.

"At noon," says Dupuy, "we had given up expecting anything, when down came suddenly, an avalanche of rocks, amid such roaring and snorting that made the earth tremble—and we saw it! A Keratosaurus with the colic is an Apocalyptic sigh! The pre-historic thing, black, bulkier than six elephants, anyhow, lurched down the ravine beyond us, sweeping rocks aside like pebbles.

"We stood petrified. 'The Keratosaurus of the Arctic Circle!' babbled Father Lavagneux: 'In full daylight, you have seen the Eiffel Tower? So, I have seen the monster of Jurassic times!" From its hairy belly hung clods of mud as big as 10-year old children!

"No use to shoot lead at such a fellow!" said Leemore, as he is asserted to have taken a snap shot with a camera. (The pictures have not yet reached civilization).

"To kill it would require high explosive shells!" said Lelouvier, the great hunter who is known as the "Unkillable", when this story got to Russia and was confirmed by Siberian native hunters."

There have been "sea serpents" galore but it is now the "Keratosaurus."

Bible Thought For Today

GOD'S MANIFOLD WORKS:—O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom has thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. Psalm 104:24.

PRAYER: Lord God, all wait upon Thee, for Thou dost give them their food in due season.

CREDO CONTINUED

I believe that submarines should have hooks and eyes on them and valves for the introduction of air in every compartment, and I believe that all policemen, state and municipal, should be under bond. I believe that most Americans overeat and that thousands of women make their lives miserable by trying to keep thin when they were never built for thinness. I believe that a Newfoundland dog is the most intelligent and companionable of all dogs, and that an ideally governed city would have no dogs in it.

I believe that our civilization has justified itself in the works of its wealthy philanthropists. I believe that Charles Lindbergh could do much good by visiting every capital in the world as the flying ambassador of the American people. I believe that "Cyrano de Bergerac" is one of the best plays ever written.

Commander Baylis To Resume Stand In Sub Disaster

Report Many Other Vessels Had Narrow Escapes With Submarines

PAULDING COMMANDER IS MADE DEFENDANT

Baylis Claims No Responsibility For Crash That Sent S-4 To Bottom

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHARESTOWN NAVY YARD, BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 9.—At least three vessels had narrow escapes from naval submarines "suddenly emerging" off Provincetown Harbor.

Evidence to this effect is available for the defense of Lieut. Commander John S. ("Handsome Jack") Baylis, commander of the coast guard cutter Paulding which collided with the submarine S-4 and rammed the submersible to the bottom with her crew of forty men.

Lieut. Commander Baylis will take the witness stand today as defendant before the naval court of inquiry investigating the S-4 disaster.

The reports of various vessels escaping collisions with submarines were made since the S-4 disaster although the episodes occurred prior to the tragedy, International News Service learned today.

Houdini's Widow To Take Up Wand Laid Down By Magician

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Following in the footsteps of her politically-minded sisters here and in England who have succeeded to their deceased husband's places in government position, Mrs. Harry Houdini, widow of the famous magacian, plans to take up the magician's wand laid down by her husband's dying hand.

Mme. Houdini announced her intention before an invited audience of newspapermen and others assembled in a vacant store in the upper Fifties streets, when to demonstrate her fitness to carry her husband's mantle, she "froze" an Indian "medicine man" in a cake of ice.

The ice was formed around him by the applications of solidified carbon dioxide gas. It was explained that the freezing process had taken twenty-six minutes. The man remained in the ice some fifteen minutes more, and then a hole was chopped in the ice to expose his face. The ice was real.

Mrs. Houdini said she plans to combine the trick with legerdemain from her husband's repertory, including an escape from handcuffs or a straightjacket. When her husband was alive she assisted him in his stage work under an assumed name.

Do You Know What a Woman of 30 Should Weigh?

It all depends on her height of course.

If she is five feet seven inches in height she should weigh according to the best authorities 142 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 5 inches her normal weight is 134 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 3 inches she should weigh 127 pounds.

It's dangerous to be always striving to grow thin—the Adirondack Mountains and health resorts everywhere are filled with health shattered women who will tell you that it doesn't pay to be too thin.

That is why so many thousands of underweight men and women are putting their faith in McCoys Tablets.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at all druggists in America.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Fog that enveloped this district last night made auto driving difficult. Even on the lighted streets of the city there was such a heavy fog that it was hard to drive a car about the city in some sections.

Licenses in the state must have reached or passed the first million by this time. Pa Newc saw one on the streets here yesterday that carried a number over 966,000.

President James A. Farrell of the United States Steel corporation, on the occasion of a visit to the Pittsburgh district over the week-end, said that this great industrial district of western Pennsylvania would ever continue to be the steel center of the world. Continued improvements are contemplated in the district, he said.

Beware—This is the week of Friday, the 13th. There are several of these auspicious dates during the present year.

New Castle, Pa.,
January 8, 1928.

Pa Newc,
Care New Castle News
Dear Pa.:

Without some kind of agitation life would be very dull. So I suppose some poor fellow has been rather dull and now conceives the idea of changing the calendar year and putting things in another mess. We mortals have plenty to confuse us and get us all balled up without this.

There are at least 100 million people in the United States who would have to change their birthday anniversaries. It would be worse than figuring out your income tax to try and find the proper date. When would poor Hints and Dints have his anniversary? Furthermore, the Fourth of July or Independence Day would have to be changed to suit the whims of someone who has a bright idea. We have celebrated Fourth of July in this country for 150 years. Also February 22, Washington's birthday, and February 12, Lincoln's birthday, for a number of years. We cannot go back and change these days. So why worry about changing the days to come?

Every one of us in the present generation came into this world on a certain day and has been able to get along with the calendar we now have, and I say to the few who may think this is the proper thing the same as I say to those who kick about our city and country: "If present conditions do not suit you, get out." Hints and Dints says the same thing to New Castle knockers.

Say Pa, when will your birthday be under the new plan? Don't ask me. I'll take the calendar "as is".

Yours,
C. W. IRWIN.

Meanest Man Is Discovered At Newark, N. J.

Son Writes To Mother In Disguise Saying He Had Died And Tries To Collect Money

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Jan. 9.—York police believe they have located the world's meanest man.

Recently a local woman, whose name police refuse to divulge, received a letter purporting to come from "G. Roush," self-styled undertaker at Newark, N. J., saying that her son, a sailor, had died and that his body had been turned over to the undertaker. The writer demanded $130 for the body. The woman turned the letter and the requested money over to a local undertaker, who in turn called the case to the attention of police here.

Investigation revealed that "G. Roush" is in reality the woman's own son. Newark police arrested him, but on the mother's request he was released.

The son told Newark police that he needed money, and knowing that his mother had not heard of his whereabouts since he sailed as a member of the crew of the S. S. Laconia last summer, he conceived the idea of advising his mother of his own "death," and collecting $130 for his "body."

The letter which he admitted writing said that unless the money was forthcoming the body would be turned over to a hospital. The son's arrest came when police traced the letter to the Goodwill Mission House, 3234 Eagle street, Newark, where he was found. He was released after admitting his plot.

Mexican Bandit Chief Holds American Engineer For $10,000 Ransom Money

Federal troops have been pursuing Mendoza and his band, but the terrain is rough and dangerous, and every time Mendoza's spies have warned him of the approach of government troops he has retreated further into the fastnesses of a country with which he is familiar, taking his captive with him.

Claims New Device Would Put An End To "Sub" Disasters

J. E. Williamson and sketch of the device he says will avert submarine disasters

By HAZEL CANNING
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—"Such terrific disasters as that of the submarine S-4 may be averted in the future if the navy adopts and adapts a device which has proved successful in the taking of undersea pictures for the last 10 years."

This is the statement of J. E. Williamson of New York.

Williamson has just returned from an expedition on which he salvaged 40 tons of coral for the American Museum of Natural History. He did this by means of what he calls "the hole in the sea" and "the eye of the submarine."

It is this device which may prevent future disasters with submarines, according to Williamson.

Has Undersea Chamber

"This safety device is operated from a boot that has what shipbuilders call an 'air lock'," he says. "This means a trap door in the bottom of the ship. Out of this trap door is let down by a metal tube, three feet in diameter. This metal tube is slatted together and may be stretched longer or shorter, somewhat as a Japanese lantern.

"At the end of the steel-jointed tube is an air chamber, five feet in diameter, large enough to hold two or three men. Now this chamber may be let down to such a disaster as the submarine, enabling the officer in charge to go down with one or two working divers to inspect the wreck. The ship to which the device is attached may be moved anywhere, thus enabling the men in the air chamber to view the work completely.

"One of the chief difficulties with the S-4 was that the directing officers only saw the sunken sub through reports of the divers.

"The step after the officer has viewed the wreck is logical. A diver with an acetylene torch may cut through the place where the men are imprisoned.

Says Method Is Safe

"Laymen will say water will rush in when the hole—man size is cut. So it will. But not above the waists of imprisoned men, in most instances, since the air present in the submarine chamber creates enough pressure to keep a great deal of water out. An air hose, carried in by the first diver, will quickly empty the chamber of any water.

"The officer in charge, watching all these operations from his dry, atmosphere proof glass air chamber, will telephone to the ship for a diver's suit. It could be the second thing pulled into the chamber, and the weakest man could be on his way up to the rescue ship, ten minutes after the hole was opened."

Williamson has been in communication with Lieut. Commander G. E. Brandt, secretary of the Conference on Oceanography. The lieutenant commander has written Williamson that his department will study the possibilities of the air tube and air chamber suggested.

In the meantime, Williamson, sitting snugly in this air chamber, has directed and photographed ten under-sea motion pictures, showing all manner of water life.

Butler Y Teams Are Defeated Here

Match Contests At New Castle Y On Saturday Are Won By Locals

Having a rather easy time of it in all departments of sport, the New Castle Y. M. C. A. teams succeeded in defeating the teams representing Butler Y. M. C. A. here Saturday afternoon. When the score was totalled at the end of the matches, New Castle led by a score of 66 to 62.

Although outplayed, the Ministerial Association volley ball team of Butler was not outgamed by the local pastors. The game was a hard and fast one, and only in the last few minutes did the New Castle team succeed in nosing out their opponents by a score of five to three.

Hopelessly outclassed in basketball, the Butler teams lost three straight games to the local boys. The games were for boys of 14, 16 and of Hi-Y age.

In curoque, New Castle and Butler split, each association winning one of two games, while in ping-pong, there was another split, each of the boys winning two games and losing two. But in the prize ping-pong game of the afternoon, that for boys of 18 years of age, Butler scored a win over the local Y. M. C. A.

Again in checkers, New Castle demonstrated their prowress easily winning three games out of three played. In chess and in pool, 18 year old boys from Butler had the advantage of their local opponents. Final score: New Castle 66; Butler 62.

SUDDEN DEATHS MOUNT TO FIVE

Suicide Is Discovered In Pittsburgh When Police Enter Room

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9.—Sudden deaths during the past week-end in the Pittsburgh district reached five when the body of Philip Mahla, 45, was found with his throat slashed from ear to ear when police broke into his room today. Authorities believed Mahla committed suicide following a separation from his wife, a subsequent drinking orgy and despondency.

In the meantime, the dramatic spectacle of a young 17-year-old beauty, Olga Pawliskak, proclaiming she shot to death Nick Anderson, 35, because Anderson annoyed her mother, was crumbling as police worked out the theory that she was shielding her lover, Mike Poppowich. The instrument of death was a revolver belonging to Poppowich, police claimed, and Anderson, while dying, repeated several times "Mike did it." The tragedy took place in the Pawliskak home near Ambridge.

Largest Lighthouse To Honor Columbus

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—A permanent memorial to Christopher Columbus in the form of the largest lighthouse in the world will guide pilots to Santo Domingo under plans announced today by the governing board of the Pan-American Union.

Every nationality will be invited to contribute to the erection of the memorial and architects of all nations will compete for the honor of designing the proposed $4,000,000 structure.

Secretary of State Kellogg as chairman of the governing board said that Albert Kelsey of Philadelphia one of the architects of the Pan-American building had been authorized to select the site and plan the competition.

The lighthouse will occupy a park near Santo Domingo and is expected to serve as a beacon not only to mariners but to aerial navigators. A monument built by the Dominican government to house the remains of the explorer will be placed in the memorial.

The plans will be selected by an international jury which will meet first in Europe, preferably in Madrid, Secretary Kellogg said and later in a South American city. Fifty thousand dollars will be distributed in prizes to the architects.

Gather Data For Hickman's Trial On Insanity Plea

Attorney Walsh Goes To Kansas City To Interview Hickman's Friends

LONG, DRAWN-OUT TRIAL PREDICTED

Prepare For Battle Of Psychiatrists; May Repudiate Parts Of Confession

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Preliminary accumulation of direct scientific data, with which the defense in the forthcoming trial of William Edward Hickman, kidnaper-slayer of 12-year-old Marion Parker, hopes to establish its plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity," began today.

While Jerome Walsh, chief defense counsel, was in Kansas City taking depositions of witnesses who were acquainted with the "Fox" in earlier days, Richard Cantillon, associate counsel, prepared to hire alienists to go into Hickman's cell in the hall of justice and observe every action and reaction of the youth who bartered away the mutilated torso of the Parker girl for $1500 ransom money.

Meanwhile, the state, anticipating a battle of psychiatrists, similar to that which characterized the Loeb-Leopold trial did not rest in the work of gathering evidence from Hickman's Los Angeles acquaintances and every other available source, with which it hopes to shatter the defense contention that the killer of an innocent victim was himself the victim of mental abnormality.

The doctrine of fatalism and predestination is the newest in Hickman's conversation, his jailers reported. The youthful killer speaks of an immutable will, over which he has no control, guiding his acts. He professes the theory that he was placed on the earth for some purpose which he cannot change.

This is regarded by the state as a portent that the "Fox" may, when he comes to trial, repudiate those parts of his confession which state that he killed the girl for two reasons, to escape detection and to collect the $1500 from her father, Perry M. Parker.

Dairies Of County Cannot Meet Demand

Thousands Of Gallons Of Milk Shipped Into City By Rail

Although thousands of gallons of milk are brought into the city of New Castle every morning by the farmers of the community, yet it fails to meet the demand according to the officials of the railroads entering the city who state that every month thousands of gallons of milk are shipped in by railroad from outlying districts north, east and west of the county.

According to the record of the railroads, especially during the summer months as high as 30,000 gallons of milk and cream are shipped into New Castle in a month from districts in Mercer, Crawford counties to the north and east and from over the line in Ohio.

Yet, also there is considerable milk and cream shipped out of New Castle by rail for in the summer months say the railroad officials there is an average of about 350 gallons a day shipped out of the city. Most of this goes to Pittsburgh but some of it goes west into Ohio into districts which are considered among the best milk producing districts in the country.

Ask Postponement Of Second Fall Case

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Postponement of the second Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial, scheduled for January 16, was asked of the district supreme court today by William Leahy and Mark Thompson, counsel for ex-secretary of interior, Albert B. Fall.

They said that Fall was ill in his New Mexico home and his health would be seriously endangered by coming to the colder climate of Washington for the trial.

A mistrial was ordered in the first trial when government attorneys alleged Harry F. Sinclair placed an improper surveillance over the jury through Burns detectives.

New Tax Millage Measure Will Be Passed By Council

Ordinance Must Designate Millage Rate In Dollars And Cents

Every township, borough and city in the state is affected by a new law, a copy of which has just been received here, making it mandatory that in tax levy ordinances the millage rate in dollars and cents must be shown.

In order that the tax levy ordinance here be valid, Councilman W. T. Burns today introduced a new ordinance at the suggestion of Solicitor R. M. White. It went to committee and was reported out favorably.

The tax levy is 11 3-4 mills.

This is divided as follows: General revenue purposes 9 1-4, sinking fund 2 and library purposes ½ mill.

According to Burns' ordinance the general revenue levy is 92½ cents on every one hundred dollars of assessed valuation, sinking fund 20 cents on every one hundred dollars and library 5 cents on every one hundred dollars.

The ordinance is in conformity with state law.

The copy was not received here until the original bill had been passed and no doubt every township, borough and city affected will have to make a similar move so that their ordinance can become valid.

Horses Increase On Canadian Farms

Number of horses in Canada has not decreased on account of the utilization of mechanical power in farming but has never been as large as at present, according to a recent report of the dominion department of agriculture.

In 1910 there were only 2,213,199 horses in Canada while in 1916 there were 3,558,849 in the dominion with a valuation of $254,675,000. Nearly all the provinces reported an increase in the horse population of 1926 over the previous year.

Horse raising on the prairies of western Canada is an important phase of agriculture and these western provinces not only largely supply eastern Canada with horses but many thousands of head are shipped abroad. Alberta and Saskatchewan alone last year exported more than 40,000 head.

Gideons To Place Bibles In The Castleton Rooms

Dr. W. E. McClure Preaches Sermon On Sunday Presaging Event

Tells "Why Men Read The Bible" In Address Sunday Morning

On Sunday afternoon, January 15, the Gideons, a well known traveling men's organization, will hold a service and distribute Bibles in the rooms of The Castleton.

Dr. W. E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, used the incident yesterday as an introduction to his sermon on "Why Men Read the Bible."

Using Psalm 119:97 as his text he developed eight reasons why the Bible is read which are given below, with the introduction to his sermon:

Why Men Read the Bible.

Psalm 119:97.

We have in our city a new hotel. We have in our country an organization of Christian traveling men known as the Gideons. These Gideons have done a noble work. They do many worth while things, but probably their greatest work in recent years has been the placing of Bibles in the hotels of our cities.

On next Sabbath afternoon the Gideons of this section of the country will meet in the new hotel, hold a service and distribute Bibles to the rooms of the hotel. You are invited to the service and you will hear a message by one of the leading Gideons of the nation.

Some weeks ago I had a letter from the American Bible society, asking that I preach a sermon on "The Value of the Bible" or "The Bible in the Home" or "Why Men Read the Bible", some theme that would enable me to exalt the Bible. The date set was December 4, but we were asked to use any suitable date.

We pastors cannot always find our dates to suit such organizations, but we can find a place through the year to stress everything worth while. And today, I find, is the opportune time for me to bring the message that will suit both the Gideons and the American Bible society.

When a book has gone into five or six editions and 200,000 or 300,000 copies have been sold, then we speak of the book as being a "best seller". Main Street has been the best seller for the past few years. Yet today the sale of this novel is at a standstill, and a total of a few more than 500,000 copies have been sold. Publishers no longer consider it the part of wisdom to use up good paper and ink printing Main Street. The market is full. The craze is past.

Some 50 years ago, Robert Ingersoll was riding in to Denver on the train. He said, "within 50 years there will not be found in this city 50 Bible believers."

A young man sitting behind Ingersoll heard these words from the then famous infidel, and determined that he would do all in his power to spread the knowledge of the Scriptures.

What has been the result with the passing years? Last year in the city of Denver alone 100,000 copies of the Bible were sold, and I had the pleasure of speaking on a conference program when I addressed on a week night more than 500 people, speaking on the "Inspiration of the Holy Scriptures."

And we who live in the 20th century have lived to see the time when the world demands 30,000,000 copies of the Bible every year. Printing presses can not turn out Bibles fast enough these days to supply the demand.

This is a startling fact in itself. When I am able to stand before the unbeliever and tell him that an old Jewish book, some parts of which are 3500 years old, and the most recent parts are 2000 years old, a book written in the Orient, written by at least 40 different human authors, and yet this book after all the centuries is being sold at the alarming rate of 30,000,000 copies a year, I am stating a fact that ought to cause atheists and infidels to stop and think.

Times have changed. But the old Bible is still with us. It is not read by all people. It is not read by any of us as much as it ought to be, but it is read by more people than any other book that has ever been written.

It has been considered a remarkable thing that Uncle Tom's Cabin should be translated into 23 languages. But the Bible has been translated into 835 languages and dialects. The Bible is sold in America in 102 different languages to reach all the people who want to read the Bible.

Why is this? What is there about the Bible that makes so many people desire to have it and read it? If it be only a book of superstition, then pray tell me, why is a day of science and learning when men are making such mighty strides forward, do we keep on reading and believing the Bible? There must be some reasons and we are going to find them.

They are: 1, The Bible reveals to man the secrets of the eternal past; 2, the Bible reveals to man the one perfect and satisfying form of life; 3, the Bible reveals for man, man's life as it actually exists; 4, the Bible reveals for us the eternal problems of life; 5, the Bible reveals to mankind God as a God of love; 6, The Bible reveals the story of sin and salvation; 7, the Bible speaks always with authority; 8, the Bible reveals to man the secrets of the eternal future.

We read an argument that all students should be vaccinated upon entering college. Then, of course, they would all start from scratch.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—A vaudeville actor, member of an old and famous team, is still, at seventy, a practical joker. The other day in the Lamb's club he carried out to the end a hoax which promised to take on important proportions. He persuaded a friend of his to pass around the word that he had just returned from a sojourn in a sanitarium for the mentally deranged. Then he proceeded to bear out the story by queer behavior in the dining room. He approached an old acquaintance who was eating spaghetti, and coyly snatched a handful. And otherwise disported himself as a man who was certainly not responsible for his actions. The house committee met, and a formidable gathering of staff assistants gathered in the lobby, prepared to hoist the disturber into a taxi and carry him homeward. Before they had a chance to give him the rush, however, the old gentleman swept the anxious company a bow and said, with an unmistakable twinkle of triumph: "Once a good actor, always a good actor." He went out into the night unmolested.

An amateur auction fan was puzzled the other day, attending a sale of rare books at an uptown gallery. There was, in particular, an original Oscar Wilde manuscript, which he had thought would go for ten or fifteen thousand. George Arliss had brought it to the states, and its fame had spread among the bibliophiles. But to the amateur's surprise, the bidding on this particular work languished, and it went to a quiet little woman in the back for somthing like $3,800. He was enlightened later by a dealer. "The buyer is a Morgan agent," said the dealer. "We all dropped out when we saw she was after it, because if one of us were to bid against her and get it, we never would get a bit of business from her. And of course it is worth while to have her on your list, as she is an important client."

Tom Heeney, the Austrialian fighter, is said to be one of the most modest men of the sawdust ring. He hopes to meet Tunney, but refuses to prophesy what the outcome will be. He says he'd like to try out Dempsey first, because that would be, in a manner of speaking, a warming-up process. Which ought to make Jack pretty mad.

The only garage on Washington Square (on the east side of the park) is said to be owned by a man who lives in one of the stately houses on the north side. He keeps it there because he must have a stable for his car, and it's far enough away from his own establishment so as not to worry him. Various people in the neighborhood would like to have the old garage torn down, to make way for a bigger and better apartment building, but the owner stands pat.

You may have noticed the contest one of the soap companies has been conducting, in a search for slogans. A bright youth in New Rochelle sent in this one: "If you don't use C.'s soap, for Pete's sake use C.'s perfume." He didn't get the prize, but someone in the contest department thought he deserved $5 for his flippancy, anyhow.

My friend, the lunch wagon cook, tells me there's a distinct line of cleavage between night and morning. People who stop in at three o'clock still say "Good evening." But the stragglers at 3:30 say "Good morning," and says it's an unvarying rule.

Congress Upset By "Gag Rule" For Naval Men

Congressional Controversy Over Magruder Case Is In Offing

BUTLER PLANS NEW LINE OF ATTACK

Report Navy To Discipline Magruder For Articles Printed In Magazines

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—A congressional controversy over the "gag rule" which stifles high officers of the army and navy broke out anew today as a result of the investigation of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder's charges of waste and inefficiency in the navy.

With reports circulated that the Navy Department will discipline Magruder for writing magazine articles when the congressional flurry has blown over, the admiral's case loomed as a test of the system.

Raps "Gag Rule"

Representative Updike (R) of Indiana, a member of the House naval affairs committee, delivered a blow at the "gag rule" by declaring that it has no place in a democratic government.

"I don't believe in this gagging of distinguished officers of long experience if they will be responsible for the statements they may convey to the public in articles or speeches," said Updike.

"Any naval officer who has been educated by the government and has proved his worth should be allowed to make statements which are in the interests of taxpayers, especially when we are spending 70 per cent of our revenues for present and past war obligations."

Represenative Miller (R) of Washington, also a member of the naval affairs committee, defended the navy's policy of "muzzling" officers.

"If every naval officer and every enlisted man has the right to go into public when he is dissatisfied, our navy will be ruined," asserted Miller.

Wilbur Sets Precedent

Representative McClintic (D) of Oklahoma charged that Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has set the precedent for which Admiral Magruder is being investigated.

"Mr. Wilbur went into magazines to spread propaganda and an admiral of the navy was permitted to write for a news service on the Australian cruise," said McClintic.

"I will fight against the muzzling of officers who have given their whole life to the government and have some real facts to present to the people."

Magruder himself declares that he was justified in writing magazine articles because the navy regulations provide for a general policy of publicity so long as it is not inimical to the national defense.

Magruder was relieved from command of the Philadelphia navy yard after he criticized alleged extravagance in the navy, and brought to Washington to await the action of Congress.

After a wrangling inquiry, Representative Butler (R) of Pennsylvania, chairman, called the committee into session today to outline a future course. With the committee strongly divided over the Magruder articles, and several fights narrowly averted, Butler planned to develop a new line for the inquiry.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

A STRANGE PERFORMANCE.

Leaving the boy to the care of his friendly fat wife off rushed Father Blue Jay to join his children who were combing out their feathers with their beaks and fluffing out their plumes until each bird looked much plumper than it had before and twice as handsome.

"How do you feel now?" inquired Mother Blue Jay anxiously after a few moments. "Not cold I hope."

"I am as warm as a piece of toast," replied Peter laughing. "And you don't know how glad I am I stayed. Here come your folks now. My, what a handsome chap your husband is! I have known him for a long time but I never realized what a soldierly looking bird he is. How big and black his bill is! That crest of his stands up as stiff as any helmet. I couldn't think of what it reminded me but that is it—a helmet—and as for his eyes they are so big and bright that I have a curious feeling that with them Mr. Blue Jay could spy anything. I should hate to have him looking for me if I were trying to hide from him.'

Mother Blue Jay puffed out her chest with pride at this praise of her husband.

"All that you say is perfectly true Boy" said she, "but you have not mentioned all husband's good points yet. Do you notice how becoming in his uniform of blue and gray and white those black bars across his wings and tail. In military bearing there is no bird in all birdland that can match my mate if I do say so myself. He is every inch a soldier and his sons are going to be just like him."

"They lok just like him now only they are not so large nor do they seem quite so sure of themselves" agreed Peter. "Your daughters are lovely, too—they resemble you."

"How nice of you to say so" chirped Mother Blue Jay delightfully. 'I am an old, fat bird now—I have ransed a large brood of little ones, you know; but I was quite a belle in my day.

"Many were the lovers who came a-courting me but I have never regretted my choice. I have never once lacked for snails or tree frogs or lizards and when husband could find nothing else he has kept me and the babies from being hungry by bringing us nuts and berries and once in a while a frozen apple or pear. Look! The dress rehearsal is about to begin."

The Blue Jays had perched themselves upon the branches and now they began to scream and to whistle and to laugh and make the wildest noises that the boy had ever heard. From far and near came flying Snow Birds and Robins and Woodpeckers and Chickadees and Sparrows—all the birds who had remained to winter in the garden hurried up to see what had happened to their old enemies.

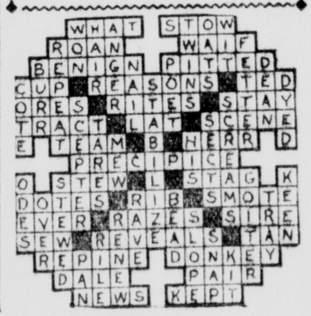

Father Blue Jay and his children waited until quite a crowd had gathered and then they commenced to bow and to jerk, to flirt their tails in a saucy manner, to whirl about with a speed that made Peter dizzy—in fact to make all sorts of queer motions and all the while uttering their shrill(metal like cries.

"Dress rehearsal!" exclaimed Peter. "This looks to me more like a vaudeville show. Just see how provoked and disgusted the other birds look. I will bet they think that the Blue Jays are making fun of them. There! I thought so! They have all flown away in a huff."

DID NOT MAKE CALL

Mrs. Frank M. Jones, 310 Pearson street, today informed The News that she was not the Mrs. Jones, who called the police Friday night to that number, on account of some trouble in the vicinity. The police records show that the call came from a Mrs. Jones at that number, but it is possible, in view of the statement of Mrs. F. M. Jones, that the person calling used the name of Jones instead to hide their own identity. This statement is made to relieve the embarrassment occasioned Mrs. F. M. Jones.

Four Murders In Pittsburgh Over Past Week-End

New Record Written Into Murder Annals Of Allegheny County

FOUR KILLINGS IN TWO DAYS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9.—A new record was written into the annals of Allegheny county today as four murders were recorded, all occurring in or near Pittsburgh over Sunday.

Nick Anderson, 35, was shot and killed because he had been trying to lure her mother away, pretty 17-year-old Olga Pawliskak, charged with the murder, told county detectives. Anderson formerly roomed at the Pawliskak home.

Domenico Caputo, 30, alleged gangster, was shot to death as he sat in his car with a shotgun and revolver by his side when occupants of another car slowly drove past him. Police attributed the murder to a blackhand warfare that has claimed the lives of nearly 25 in the last year.

As Raymond Carbona, 31, trudged home with a banjo slung over his shoulder, someone sent a bullet through the back of his head and then placed the musical instrument carefully across his chest.

Two negro thugs attacked Frank Fisher, 51, for the second time in two months, and succeeded in battering in his skull. He was found by passersby and died in a hospital.

Number Of Auto Accidents Here

Woman Is Injured When Car Collides With Pile Of Dirt In Street

There were a number of automobile accidents reported to the police over the week end. At least one person was reported as having been injured in these accidents.

The police received a call Saturday evening to the effect that a woman had been hurt in an automobile accident at South Jefferson street near Center street.

Detective Morner and Officer Samuels answered the call and found that Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Forbes had been driving south on South Jefferson street, when the machine hit a pile of dirt in the street, on which there was no red lantern. Some damage was done to the machine and Mrs. Forbes shoulder, when thrown against the windshield.

W. D. Nickel, 215 West Sheridan avenue, reported Sunday that he was enroute south on North Jefferson street at Grant street, and making a left turn to go into Grant street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 406-846 ran into and damaged his machine.

Mrs. Marie Hartman of 1110 Lorain avenue, reported Sunday that she was driving north on Beaver street and turning east on West Washington street, when a machine bearing Pennsylvania license 536-738 going east on Washington street, owned and driven by Joseph Marinski, ran into and damaged his car.

Issue Bulletin Reviewing Work At The Castleton

One of the features of the training given to the employes of The Castleton was explained this morning by John L. Slack, manager of the hotel.

"The greatest thing that we demand of our employes," said Mr. Slack, "is courtesy and prompt service. Although that sounds like one thing, yet the two are so closely interlinked that we of the American chain always think of them as one and the same time.

"Each week, our head bellman takes the boys into a private room, and there drills them in all the little points of finesse that he has learned while he was employed by the American chain. Then, the room clerks were picked especially because they never forget that after all, it is their business to make everyone feel at home in the house. And, each week, there is a little bulletin issued by The Castelton, in which we review the week in courteousness at The Castleton, and point out any faults that the management might notice.

"This is appreciated, I am sure, because almost every travelling man who used to try to make Youngstown or Pittsburgh by night, now stop at New Castle and The Castleton. Aside from that, they all tell us that we have one of the most efficient operated hotels in this part of the state. And this, I think is worthy of notice."

CHICKENS STOLEN

Mrs. William Llewellyn of 315 North Shenango street, reported to the police Saturday evening that some person had stolen some chickens from her place.

Abraham Lincoln Drinkwater's Play, Here On Thursday

New Castle Has Opportunity To See Notable Play, At Cathedral

It is true that America, the United States in particular, has produced several men whose names are known round the world because of the financial power associated with them; it is very doubtful if the United States would be in its position of financial supremacy today had one great American of the last century been lacking in sufficient moral power to save the North and the South from becoming two separate countries for "divided we fall".

Abraham Lincoln is not known round the world for any financial influence; his name is loved and honored because of the gigantic spiritual and moral power which he possessed and exercised in the interests of humanity, democracy and in the preservation of the United States of America. "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country", and it is singularly interesting to us Americans that an adequate expression of appreciation of the character of our Great Emancipator came first from another country when John Drinkwater, an English writer, produced his masterpiece on the Civil War President.

It is a striking fact that the drama was first produced in Birmingham, England, and was a phenomenal triumph in London before it was produced first at Stamford, Conn., for the first time in America. After performances at Atlantic City the National Press Club took it to Washington, where it faced a memorable test before the most prominent men of our national life, many of whom had known Lincoln personally. Its brilliant success is now history, for America pronounced it absolutely historically accurate and accepted it as the best dramatic presentation of the character of Lincoln. Every American should see this great drama and the opportunity for New Castle people to witness it comes on Thursday night of this week, when it is being presented at the Cathedral under the combined auspices of the English department of the Senior High school and the Educational Art Society, at an admission price that everyone can afford to pay.

Receive Reports Burglary Attempts At Gas Stations

But Police Find Man Repairing Tire In Both Instances

Two calls were answered by the city police on Saturday night, which were to the effect that attempts were being made to rob gasoline service stations just outside the city.

While the investigation by the police failed to show any real attempts to break into the places reported, yet there was the rather unusual circumstance in each case, that a person was found repairing a tire at these places and had been mistaken for service station thieves.

It was first reported that some one was attempting to break into the service station at the end of the West Side street car line. Officers Fleeger, Young and Thompson answered this call and on their arrival there found that a man was trying to repair a tire by the light of a flashlight.

The second of these calls came from the Park Service station, operated by Wadding & Foley and just beyond the entrance to Cascade Park. Officers, Young, Criswell, Fleeger and Thompson answered this call and on their arrival there found that a man fixing a tire of his machine was the cause of the call. This service station was robbed a few weeks ago and considerable money secured, when visited by three stickup men.

Twenty persons narrowly escaped injury when the blast rocked the church, sending a shower of bricks a distance of 200 feet. The explosion occurred when the janitor lighted a fire. After an investigation authorities said dynamite had been planted in the chimney flue.

Last Week Showed Mostly Fair Weather

Weather Mostly Clear Last Week With Temperature Between 1 And 53

New Castle had a variety of weather the past week ranging from the warm weather as the old year went out to the zero weather of last Monday night, but according to the report of E. J. Quest, co-operative observer of the United States Weather Bureau, we had more clear days than cloudy days.

The New year started in with a drop in temperature of 47 degrees on New Year's Eve and the temperature never rising above 10 above zero on New Year's Day. The coldest temperature was recorded on Monday night when the mercury dropped to 1 above zero. For three days the temperature hovered between zero and 18 above then on Thursday it warmed up and since Friday we have had no temperature below freezing.

Very little snow fell during the week, a slight fall being recorded during the heavy wind of the first of the week. The total precipitation for the first 8 days of the year amounts to less than half an inch and most of this fell the afternoon and night of the last day of the old year.

GOES WEST FOR HEALTH

A brief notice in a Michigan paper the other day said that John Dunkirk had gone West for his health. The paper did not say that John's doctor had insisted that if he wanted to live he'd have to go West. It didn't report that a year ago John had had a cough which had hung on and that John brushed it aside as "just a cough." John had to throw up a good job in order to save his life. If he had only taken Murrmann's Compound in the beginning John might have still been holding his good job and in perfect health. Murrmann's Compound is an unusually effective formula for coughs and also diseases of the respiratory organs. It is different in that it contains no alcohol or any narcotic drugs. SKY BUSINESS

Whatever we may think of Thompson, Chicago mayor, we must admire his judgment in urging landing fields and everything else that will help make the airplane business good in his home city. "Get the business of the sky," says the mayor. Farseeing officials in all American cities will be active in the same job. The next 10 years will see an enormous increase in commercial aviation. The cities of vision are the cities which will profit.

DOING SOMETHING

Dr. Gladys Dick, in her laboratory at the McCormick Institute, is recognized as one of the discoverers of a serum for the treatment of scarlet fever. Both she and her husband, also a physician, were recommended for the Nobel prize. She has reached her high place in scientific circles by a long course of training, by infinite patience and by hard work. One wonders what some other women, who are interested in nothing but fashion and the frothy trivialities of life, must think about a woman like Dr. Dick. Do they think she is missing a lot of fun? Or do they think she gets a great happiness out of the sense of being useful?

OF USE

No man is quite dispensable if he has a friend. So thought Stevenson. There is hardly one of us who cannot have at least a little sense of satisfaction in the thought that by somebody we are needed. So long as that is true, we have something to do. So long as that is true, there is value in going on.

VICTORIES OF PEACE

ADVERTISING IS NEWS

Swift, Chicago packer, is right when he says the average newspaper reader looks upon advertising as news. There is no more interesting news than the items in an advertisement. Since the beginning of civilization or anything like civilization, man has been interested in trade. He has given much of his waking time to the getting of goods. He is by the inheritance of the ages a buyer and seller. Men and women both will always be interested in buying and selling. News of goods which can be had will always be fascinating news.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

THE FIRST DUTY—

Of a lawyer is to promote justice.
Of a preacher is to be helpful.
Of a teacher is to inspire with the love of knowledge.
Of a doctor is to prevent, not cure, disease.
Of an artist is to create the beautiful.
Of a woman is to give her child a clean heritagle.
Of any man is to earn his own living by useful work.

Funny man. If he does what his wife wants him to do, that's being henpecked; if he does what another woman wants him to do, that's chivalry.

BLOOD PRESSURE 200

Watch your blood pressure! If it's 180 or 200 instead of 120, it's a sign to be careful. High blood pressure cuts years off one's life. Heart palpitation, dizziness and difficulty are symptoms of high blood pressure, the result of our modern abnormal habits of life which put too great a strain upon the liver.

The liver becoming sluggish fails to cleanse the blood of the toxic poisons formed in food waste, which then permeate the whole system, affecting heart, blood pressure and blood vessels. The liver needs a little help occasionally. Nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to real health.

Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few soon tell.

HUMBLING GOLF

Golf is a humbling game, 'tis said.
It gives man little cause to strut.
Shame lines the fairways where we tread,
Few of us ever learn to putt.

Though now and then our shots are true,
And now and then we make a score.
Today we lack the skill to do
What we achieved the day before.

One day our spirits rise as we
With rare precision hit the ball,
We bravely start the next and see
How very low our pride can fall.

Golf is a game of endless pains,
Not long can arrogance survive,
We play it, but the fact remains
Few of us ever learn to drive.

Elusive is the gentle art
Required of those who would excel
Golf laughs at men who seem too smart
And will not let them play too well.

In praise of golf has much been said.
I think its greatest good is that
It never lets a golfer's head
Burst the circumference of his hat.

Justices Of Peace Defendants In Case Before Hildebrand

Claimed Criminal Prosecutions Were Made For Collection Of Civil Debt

The case of Joseph Leonardo against Justice of the Peace D. C. Hancher of Ellwood City and Justice of the Peace Thomas Gartley of Ellwood City was taken up for trial today before Judge R. L. Hildebrand in Lawrence county court. The case was up at a former session, but owing to an amendment to the statement of claim, it was continued.

Leonardo was a merchant in Ellwood City. He gave a check to F. G. Schaeffer of the Sun Packing company for $267.57, telling Schaeffer to hold it for a few days as he did not have sufficient money in the bank to meet it. The check was not paid and it is claimed that Schaeffer went before Justice Hancher, who is also a credit man for the Sun Packing company, and made an information under the bad check act. Later Leonardo paid $107 of the bill in Hancher's office. Subsequently it is claimed that an information relative to the same transaction was made before Justice Gartley and later another before Hancher. Leonardo was acquitted in a court trial. Malicious prosecution is alleged, it being claimed that an effort had been made to collect a civil debt by a criminal prosecution. Hancher and Gartley deny the charge, claiming the prosecutions were in good faith.

Derobbia, who was about to leave Ellwood City on a trip, sold his store to Myers, with the understanding that it was to be sold back when Derobbio returned. When he came back the store was again invoiced and was found to contain $75 worth more goods than when Myers took charge. Derobbio held back the $75 pending the adjustment of some bills, one of which was a cigar bill of $32 to a man named Flecker in Beaver Falls. A dispute arose regarding the adjustment, Derobbio claiming that he owed $25 which he tendered in payment. Myers would not accept, claiming about $75. Uncle Sam's Project For Nicaraguan Canal Coming Up At Havana

By CLARK KINNAIRD
Exclusive Central Press Cable to New Castle News

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 9.—When will the Nicaraguan canal be built? The question is one of prime importance in Central American affairs and naturally will be the subject of attention at the Pan-American conference which opens in Havana January 16, with President Coolidge in attendance.

Only the United States can build the canal. It holds a 99-year canal concession for which, in 1916, it paid $3,000,000—and reserved the right to tell the Nicaraguan government how to spend the money.

Panama canal traffic statistics show that it is approaching its limit of capacity, and steamship and trade executives are of the opinion that there is no time to be lost in beginning the construction of another such waterway.

United States naval experts also are deeply concernend about the canal project, for they believe the second canal is needed, not only to accommodate rapidly increasing inter-ocean traffic, but to double facilities for the rapid transfer of defensive warships from coast to coast.

They hold that the efficiency of the United States navy would be increased, and the safety of its transfer from one ocean to another advanced, by the possibility of its using two canals instead of one.

Aerial Warfare Changes Aspect

The development of aerial warfare also enters into the situation. When the Panama canal was constructed this element was not anticipated and did not enter into the defense plans. At present an enemy navy and its planes need watch only the Panama canal. It would be a far different problem to watch two Pacific outlets from the Caribbean.

If no other canal existed, one well-placed bomb could halt our navy in the Panama canal and cut it off from the Pacific or Atlantic coast for several weeks.

At San Juan del Norte, on the Caribbean, popularly known as Greytown, there are the beginnings of a canal. A long stretch of pier; an invisible, dredged channel in the harbor; some three-fourths of a mile of canal scooped out of a swamp; a few miles of railroad, from Greytown to a lock site; some telegraph lines. These are the remnants and reminders of a canal project begun in 1889 by the Nicaraguan Canal Company, an American company. The concern was liquidated in 1893.

In the nineties the French were trying to sever the continent at Panama, and Uncle Sams' interest was centered on the Nicaraguan project. After the Spanish-American War, when construction of an Isthmian canal became a more urgent matter of national concern, U. S. engineers preferred to go on with the abandoned De Lesseps project at Panama, and the Nicaraguan canal plans were dropped until it became apparent that the Panama waterway would have to be supplemented with another.

An Old Plan

The scheme to utilize Nicaragua's convenient inland sea to link the Atlantic and Pacific is almost as old as the original idea of cutting a waterway across the Isthmus. Hernando Cortes, Spanish conqueror, is given credit for fostering the earliest canal plan. His site was in New Granada, now Colombia.

For two centuries thereafter canal projects were intermittently given attention. Panama, Nicaragua, Honduras and the Tehuantepec peninsula in Mexico were surveyed by engineers for the purpose. Tehuantepec was where Eads, American engineer, wanted to build a ship railway. He proposed to lift vessels out of the water and move them from Atlantic to Pacific, and vice versa, on wheels. Of course, ships weren't so large at that time, and the idea wasn't so fantastic as it appears to moderns.

In the next dispatch I shall give a brief history of the canal project, together with present plans.

New York Subways Indecent, Inhuman, Says Health Expert

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—New York subway trains, because of overcrowding and congestion are "indecent and inhuman," and potential breeding grounds of pestilence and diseases, according to Dr. Louis I. Harris, Commissioner of Health.

Testifying before a hearing of the New York Transit Commission, Dr. Harris said that policewomen assigned to seek out cases of immoral and perverse practices committed under cover of crowds in the subway trains, reported that the frightful congestion "encourages and invites these practices, and the women and girls are quite helpless to prevent their being perpetrated."

Dr. Harris is attempting to obtain a court order compelling the subway company to add 432 cars to its present rolling stock equipment, and the subway company is fighting the issuance of such an order, alleging that it is unable to meet the cost involved.

Dr. Harris referred to the recent testimony of one of the expert witnesses for the subway company, who testified that the "subways are not fit places for fragile people."

"One does not have to be fragile to realize the ordeals of travel in the New York subways," Dr. Harris said. "A short person, however strong he may be, suffers particularly," Dr. Harris himself is a perfect specimen of a short person.

Enumerating colds, tonsilitis, pneumonia and influenza as "subway diseases," for the spread of which crowding was directly responsible, Dr. Harris went on to say that between 2 and 3 per cent of the people who travel by New York subways are carriers of virulent diptheria germs.

As it exists today, congestion in the New York subways is "indecent and inhuman."

If the ne'er-do-well doesn't seem to be wedded to his work don't jump at conclusions. Maybe it is a companionate marriage.

Fetterman's Departure

ON DECEMBER 20, 1866, THE WOOD TRAIN, RETURNING FROM THE PINEY ISLAND LOGGING CAMP, HAD REPORTED NO SIGHT OF INDIANS, AND THE FOLLOWING DAY, GEN. CARRINGTON SENT THE TRAIN FROM FORT PHIL KEARNEY FOR ONE LAST LOAD OF LOGS TO FINISH THE BUILDINGS AND COMPLETE THE STOCK OF FIREWOOD FOR THE WINTER.

AT 11 O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING, THE WOOD TRAIN WAS SUDDENLY ATTACKED BY THE SIOUX WHEN ONLY A MILE AND A HALF FROM THE POST. WORD OF THE ATTACK REACHED THE FORT AND CAPT. POWELL WITH A STRONG FORCE WAS ORDERED TO THE RESCUE.

RECENT LOSSES HAD REDUCED THE GARRISON TO THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY MEN, AND CARRINGTON WAS OBLIGED TO EMPTY THE GUARDHOUSE AND CALL ON EVERY AVAILABLE MAN FOR DUTY IN THE ABSENCE OF THE RELIEF COLUMN.

Rickard-Tunney Resume Wrangle

Heavyweight Champion Is Peeved At Tex Rickard For Latest Statements

"MADE MONEY FOR TEX", SAYS TUNNEY

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament is a grand idea, only it isn't Rickard's and never was. It merely is his tournament; also his money, after the saps are tapped on the medulla oblongata for what they have, if enough.

The above, in effect, was Gene Tunney's statement to the writer today after he had masticated Rickard's charge that the champion was guilty of ingratitude in attempting to void the contract signed by the pair for heavyweight business this summer. Rickard's story was that he had fought and bled—the suckers, perchance—for Tunney, got him his title chance, gave him over a million dollars and altogether made him what he is. In other words, he desired to infer that Tunney was greatly in his debt.

Tunney sees it otherwise. He thinks the matter of debt is an absolute stand-off and cites the heavyweight tourney as proof of his contention. It made Rickard the better part of a million dollars last year and, according to Tunney, it never would have been thought of if it hadn't been for one man's rare presence of mind, as it were.

Who was that man? Don't be so young.

"It was I who suggested to Rickard that elimination tests be held," the champion declared with a modest blush. "What heavyweight champion have you known who didn't handpick his opponents? There is only one and his name is Gene Tunney. I insisted that Rickard produce the best man available as my opponent last year and I told him the only way this could be done was to hold a tourney with all of the leading contenders entered.

"Bob" Folwell, Noted Football Coach Dies

Folwell Termed One Of Greatest Gridiron Players Ever Turned Out In Pennsylvania U.

Operation For Growth On Hip Claims Life Of Well-Known Football Expert

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Numerous expressions of grief and surprise were heard in sport circles today over the sudden passing during the night of Robert C. Folwell, 43, one of the greatest football players ever to wear a University of Pennsylvania uniform and later a noted coach. "Farmer Bob", as Folwell was known to thousands of football followers and players whom he had tutored in the quarter of century of his coaching career, succumbed in Jefferson hospital following an operation on his hip.

Folwell was removed to the hospital last week from his farm at Mullica Hills, N. J., and underwent an operation Wednesday for the removal of a growth in his hip which had forced him to walk with a cane during the past few years. He seemed to be recuperating satisfactorily when he suffered a sudden relapse yesterday.

Folwell's death follows closely on that of Alvin C. Kraenzlein, famous University of Pennsylvania and Olympic star, in the Wilkes-Barre hospital last Friday.

Folwell coached at Lafayette during the first three years following his graduation, then went to Johns Hopkins. After a one-year stay there he went to Washington & Jefferson where he served from 1912, in 1915 he came back to Penn where he stayed for four seasons, then coached the Naval academy for four more seasons.

Ill-health forced him to give up coaching, however, and he retired to his farm but aided in coaching the Philadelphia Quakers in 1926 and the Atlantic City Roses, a pro football team, last year.

He is survived by his widow, three sons and two brothers.

Overlands And Athletics Win League Games

The Rick-Overlands and the Athletics were winners in the City League games played at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday night.

In the first game of the program the Overlands had a rather hard time with the Marshalls in the first half of the game and were leading by a score of 8 to 6 at the end of the first half, but the Marshalls fell to pieces in the second part of the game and allowed the Overlands to tally 14 points. Jones led the attack for the winners, with four baskets.

The Athletics in the second tilt of the evening had things their own way with the B. & O. quintet. At the end of the first half the Athletics were ahead, 10 to 0. The defense put up by the Athletics was first-class and stopped every effort on the part of the railroaders to score. In the second half the B. & O. boys came to life and tallied 15 points.

Leaders In City League To Clash At "Y" Tonight

Two fast games are on tap for the followers of the City league tonight with the Penn-State team meeting the Liberty five in the first game at 7:30 o'clock and the Rick-Overlands and Athletics in the second game.

It is a coincidence that all four of the leading teams in the league should be battling tonight. The Liberty Five can advance a notch or so by taking over the fast Penn-State team while the Athletics can tie for first place with the Overlands by a victory.

FRANK LOCKHART

Frank Lockhart, young American auto racer, is one of the many who will make an effort to break the straightway record of 203.79 miles an hour set by Major H. O. D. Segrave, English speeder, on the Ormond-Daytona Beach, February 15 to 23. Lockhart's car will be a specially built Stutz.

With all the money being put into special racers, it is possible that a record of close to 225 miles an hour may be set.

High Team Will Play At Mars On Tuesday Evening

New Castle High Basketball Team To Play At Mars In League Tilt

New Castle High School basketball team with one league victory, that over Evans City High neatly folded up and put away for future reference, at the end of the season, will tackle their second Section III opponent on Tuesday night.

The locals are called upon by the schedule makers to play Mars High on the Mars High floor. The Mars passers dropped their first game of the season to Zelienople High by a score of 24 to 17, and it would appear that the Butler Countians are none too strong this year.

Coach Bridenbaugh was very well pleased with the manner in which the boys handled themselves on the opening night and has intimated that the lineup used last Friday night will stand for the Mars contest with Reider and Cuba at the forwards, Alexander at center and Ostrosky and Sillman at the guards.

The locals will also play away from home next Friday night being scheduled to appear against New Brighton High on the New Brighton Armory floor. If New Castle can grab off two more league victories this week, they will have a good toehold on the sectional title, is the belief of the followers.

SORDS POINTS

Not Much Of A Future, But Oh What A Past

It is evident, in view of the determined efforts of the Cleveland baseball club to land a new first baseman, that George Burns is on the verge of joining the list of former great Indian first sackers, a list that includes such names as George Stovall and "Stuffy" McInnis. Burns is still abel to get around in pretty good shape, but the big thing against him is that he is a veteran and is very noticeably slowing up.

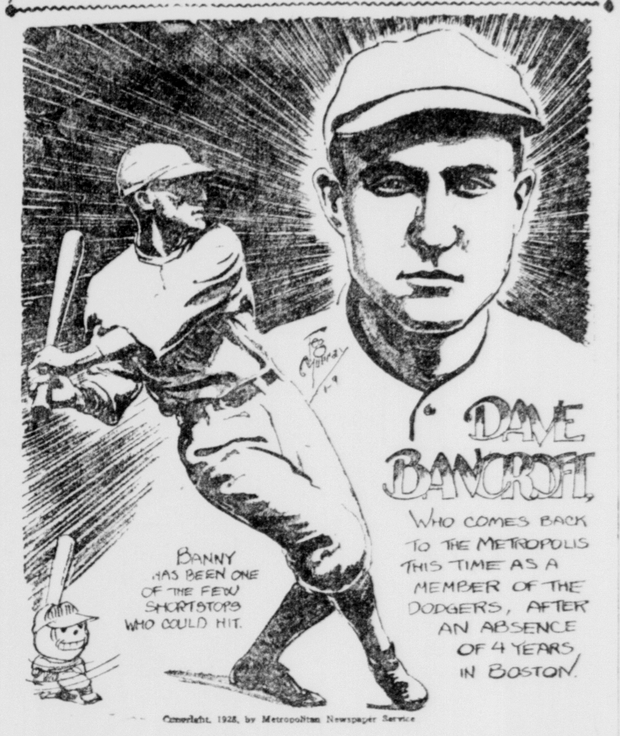

During his long career George performed many great feats on the diamond, the most notable of which was his record of 64 doubles in one season, 1926. The same year he was named as the American league's most valuable player to his team.

On Sept. 14, 1923, while playing with Boston against Cleveland he made an unassisted triple play. Stephenson singled and Lutzke walked. Then Brower lined to Burns, who snagged the ball and tagged Lutzke on the base line. Dashing to second he slid into the bag ahead of Stephenson, who had dug for third at the crack of the bat, completing the play. It was the fourth unassisted triple play in big league history.

Burns made his big league debut with Detroit in 1914. His present term with the Indians is his second. He joined Cleveland first in 1920 and after the 1921 season was traded to Boston, who traded him back after the close of 1923.

Brooklyn's Banny

By Feg Murray

Banny, having been banned to the Beantown Braves for the space of one Olympiad, is coming back to the Big Town, this time to play for Brooklyn. You can't say that Dave was a great success as a manager, but then, who is there who could do anything with those Bobbing Bostonese? During Banny's four-year regime as boss, the once great Hub machine finished in last, fifth, seventh, and seventh positions. Bancroft himself batted .279 in 1924 (the year he was laid up so much of the season), .317 in 1925, .311 in '26 and .242 last year. But Dave gave the leading clubs in the league a merry time of it each season, it seeming to be Boston's chief delight in knocking off the pennant contenders just when they thought they were about to have a three or four-game rest with "those lowly Braves".

Dave Bancroft should make himself very useful in Brooklyn. Having played with all of the other eastern clubs of the older circuit, he naturally wanted to have a fling at calling Ebbets field "home" before he quit the so-called national pastime. He will be 36 years old next April, and has played 13 seasons under the Big Top, so there probably isn't much good baseball left in the old boy, but he has enough brains to make up for his fast aging legs, and plenty of fight, and he should regain his old batting eye, for a time, anyway.

Dave made 39 errors in 1927, but Wright of the Pirates made 45, and Farrell of the Giants and Braves, 40. Anyway, what's an error to dear old Brooklyn?

Feg Murray Says—
What could the fans expect but cold weather at the Ch-Ill game?

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

The extent to which sports in general have entered the field of big business is indicated by developments and movements rather of the last several months.

The activities of the major league clubs in strengthening their positions from the financial, administrative and producing angles rather than from the playing angle have monopolized the news.

The change in ownership of the Cleveland Indians, bringing more active capital and a more direct administration into operation, was urged with a view toward strengthening the general condition of the league.

The elevation of E. S. Barnard, president of the club under its previous ownership to the presidency of the American league to succeed Ban Johnson was effected as rapidly as possible, the moguls realizing that the unsettled conditions contingent on Johnson's continuance in office was affecting the general respect held for baseball in general and the American league in particular.

Major league clubs are striving to promote the development of new material and reduce their expenses by acquiring "farms" from which to draw future material.

The minor leagues by the same token are striving to break away from the long-standing "draft" principle, which they claim lessens the chances of realizing proper returns on their investments through the sale in the open market of their star players.

The winter season found the minor leagues of the country interested in a dispute between the Texas and Western leagues which involved territorial problems and club rights which all persons interested financially in the minors felt affected the business end of the game vitally.

So much for baseball.

The football season witnessed the staging of the Notre Dame-Southern California game in Chicago before the greatest crowd ever assembled for such an event. The contest was staged at Soldiers field, Chicago, scene of the Dempsey-Tunney fight last fall.

It served to raise the question in still more pointed fashion as to how far football has been lifted from its original realm—that of providing clean competitive athletic outlet for the students, building up tradition, etc., and carried to the point of commercializing it.

At the same time football relations of several other institutions of long standing and about which much tradition had been written were broken to admit the scheduling of intersectional or bigger "drawing" games by one school or both.

* * *

And now we have one of the newer "big money" sports facing a crisis as a business—not as a sport.

This is professional basketball.

The American league the outgrowth of a rapid development of the pro cage game from a haphazard affair to an organized sport on a comprehensive basis faces a crisis now because it apparently was not builded on a sound reasonable basis.

Not enough thought was given as the game grew to the future of it, as far as playing strength and the sustaining of general popularity was concerned.

As the stason closes one team—that at Detroit—is disbanded because of lack of interest in it and one other club—the Washington team has been shifted because of poor attendance. And those who have been following the game closely explain this falling interest to the failure of the league leaders to use proper methods of inducing the best "growing" basketball talent to join the ranks and to exploit properly the players acquired.

It is pointed out that some of the officials have not been awake to the resistance of the older players to the entrance of college stars into the game. The older players came from the semi-pro and "all-star" ranks that held sway some years ago before organization of the professional game on any extensive scale was attempted.

The magnates fail to realize that C. C. Pyle virtually lifted professional football into the big business field by flashing across the sport pages the name of Red Grange of college fame.

All of which would indicate that while America seems to be "sport mad" fandom in general is not in a class with circus goers. Sport magnates must produce something besides posters and shell games to hold the crowds.

PEROTTA BEATS REILLY

An Erie paper carries the account of Goerge Perotta, middlewight, beating K. O. Reilly of Denver.

Then came the prize event of the evening, K. O. Jack Reilly of Denver in there with George Perrotta of Erie. Reilly is a card, with an iron jaw and nothing else.

Perrotta hit him right on the chin half a dozen times and in the fifth sat Reilly down for no count, but the Erie boy couldn't put his man away. Really's awkward style and his ring generalship helped him through the joust but he took quite a pasting in the sixth frame when Perrotta was really trying to knock him over.

Reilly would just smile every time Perrotta crashed over that right, and then there would be a hugging match. Even though he lost, Reilly got a big hand from the customers.

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Evidences of a culture far antedating the Seneca Indians and others of the Six Nations, precursors of the pale-face, have been brought to light by an expedition of the Rochester Municipal Museum to Lake Lamoka, N. Y.

More than 5,000 specimens, including 1,200 antler and bone implements, many of rare and unique form, have been shipped here by excavators working under the direction of the Rochester Municipal Museum and former state achaeologist, who discovered the site in 1905.

Notable among the rarer objects are implements of antler painted with red stripes, now faded a light pink. So far as research has gone these painted bone implements are the only specimens ever found in America outside of certain Pueblo communities in the Southwest.

The Lake Lamoka discoveries set the site as that of a prehistoric fishing camp, immense numbers of finely made fish hooks and net sinkers being found. Little pottery was discovered indicating that the site was pre-ceramic. What was found was the characteristic inland Algonkian type of the early second period.

Dr. Parker cited the finds and the expedition as by far the most important in the state for many years. The site has been the object of attention by the museum for three years and has been thoroughly mapped. Shipments to the museum include several graves lifted bodily from the ground. Exhibits showing the cross section are bing set up here at the present time. The earth is hardened by a chemical process to prevent moulding.

Hahn's Record Not Qualified

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The feat of Lloyd Hahn in running the fastest indoor half-mile of all time in Brooklyn Saturday night will not get into the record books because of a technicality, it was indicated today.

The Boston flyer stepped the four furlongs in one minute and 53 4-5 seconds, four-fifths of a second faster than the record set by Eli B. Parsons twenty-four years ago. But because the 106th Regiment Armory track was not equipped with a "border of board, rope, cement or other material," the record will not be accepted by the A. MA. U.

"Gallows Only Cure For Fox"

THAT IS VIEW OF GIRL SLAYER EXPRESSED BY GOVERNMENT PSYCHIATRIST

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press And New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Criminality like William Edward Hickman's is abnormal, certainly, but it's curable—in the electric chair or at the end of a rope. Not otherwise.

Assistant Surgeon General F. A. Carmella, of the government bureau of public health, psychiatry specialist, speaks for himself, he explains, when he says this; his service, so far as he knows, takes no official position on the subject.

However, his personal views are emphatic, and the doctor expresses them with authority, as an alienist of recognized distinction and a trusted medical advisor of Uncle Sam's.

* * *

"Marion Parker's murder was abnormal," continued Dr. Carmella, "in that it was too horrible even for a normal criminal.

"Some alienists contend that there's something abnormal in all crime. I don't think so. Any number of crimes are perfectly easy for any normal human being to understand.

"A gang sticks up a train, cracks the express safe and finds it necessary to kill the messenger incidentally. Nothing abnormal about that. We all can see why it was done. No trouble to follow the robber's mental processes.

"Judd Gray and Ruth Snyder!—why did they murder Ruth's husband? Aside from the insurance money, they had another logical reason. They were fighting a social convention. That isn't abnormal, a bit."

* * *

"Such in human cruelty and brutality as Hickman's argue a pathological state on his part," agreed the psychiatrist, "but it doesn't paliate his act in the least.

"The question is—

"Was he responsible? Did he realize what he was doing? Was he conscious what the consequences would be?

"Evidently 'yes'. Didn't he try to get away!"

"Let's suppose a case," suggested the doctor.

"One possible motive which was mentioned in explanation of the kidnaping was revenge—for the trouble Hickman's forgeries got him into.

"Assume that that really was the motive—but that there never had been any forgeries—that Hickman never had had any trouble in consequence of them—that he'd imagined all that—that he'd sought revenge for something that hadn't happened at all, except in his mind.

"Then there might be ground for raising the theory of irresponsibility."

"But the forgeries were real," pointed out the alienist, "and revenge is a motive we can understand. Desire for the $1,500 Hickman got is a thing we can understand. The fear that he'd be likelier to be caught if his victim lived is understandable. All normal!

"An irresistible impulse to kill! For one reason or another, all killers have that, or they wouldn't kill.

William Edward Hickman

"Hickman planned his kidnaping intelligently. He was intelligent enough to see that the little girl was a danger to him. His method of collecting the money from her father, after she was dead, was above the average intelligence.

"His whole chain of reasoning was logical, if horrible.

"His one abnormality is his abnormal cruelty.

"As a psychiatrist, I don't think that justifies society in undertaking all the trouble to keep him alive, under safe conditions, at an expense of about $5 a day, for maybe 40 or 50 years.

"Hard-boiled or not, the treatment I recommend for such cases is electrocution—or hanging."

Japanese Monarchs Allow Court Women To Have Own Homes

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Jan. 9.—Court ladies in Japan are to be allowed to marry and no longer will they be required to live all their lives insides the compound of the imperial palace.

The revolutionary decision has been reached by the imperial household authorities and marks a milestone in the progress being made toward modernization of court life in Japan. Hitherto all ladies in attendance upon the emperor or empress were forbidden to marry and were required to live within the palace. Under the new ruling they may have homes and husbands outside the palace, going to the palace each morning.

Since the death of the late Emperor Taisho, the new Emperor Hirchito and the Empress Nagako have lived in the Akasaka palace. They will move into the imperial palace in the spring and at that time other drastic changes in court life and regulations are expected.

Prominent among these will be a reduction in the number of court ladies. The empress dowager has 49 ladies-in-waiting, each with their servants, making a total of 140. The emperor and empress have only 22, including those attending their children, Princess Teru and Princess Hisa. Two more, making 24 in all, are to be appointed when the emperor and empress move into the imperial palace.

Capture 500 Coons In Chester County

(International News Service)

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Jan. 9.—Raccoons who have no particular desire to become part of the design in a college boy's overcoat are making themselves scarce in this region nowadays.

Nevertheless, approximately 500 of the animals have fallen into the hands of trappers since November 1, the start of the season. Chester county leads the state in the number of 'coons captured.

There is small consolation for the 'coons in the fact that the hunters are so thick in the hills and woods that they handicap one another in their pursuit of the animals. The hunting season on 'coons and opossums closes January 15.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

IN THE Spring of 1925 Dodge Brothers undertook an important and gigantic task—which is now complete.

Since its inception in 1914 Dodge Brothers had specialized exclusively in a four-cylinder product. During thirteen years more than two million units of that product were sold to America and to the world.

It is unnecessary here to comment on the singular merits of that famous Four.

It was honored on the battlefields of war, and achieved equal distinction on the highways and byways of peace.

Its long life and complete dependability had become an adage.

Meanwhile, however, times were changing and tastes were changing with them.

While still as important as ever, dependability alone was no longer sufficient.

Greater speed and comfort, more style and luxury were the growing prepossessions of the hour.

Six-cylinder motors were gradually becoming practical at popular prices.

Progressive engineering dictated the revision and refinement of existing four-cylinder power plants.

Two years ago Dodge Brothers appraised its task and embarked upon a program designed to place it and its Dealer Organization in a position on January 1, 1928, second to none in the industry.

Quietly, with deliberation and dispatch, and without interrupting the regular course of production and service to customers, the new program went swiftly forward.

The astonishing results of this great achievement are now known to the world.

It is doubtful if industrial annals can cite, over a similar period, an achievement so outstanding.

A smart, swift, low-priced and immensely popular quality Four has replaced its famous predecessor.

The Senior Six, outstanding in performance, quality and luxurious appointment, has been created.

Graham Brothers Trucks and Motor Coaches (formerly exclusively Fours) have been supplemented by Sixes. Fifty new types have been added. The capacities are broadened to range from one-half ton to two-ton, all resulting in the most complete and capable line of work cars known, and with prices ranging from $670 to $4290.

Then Thursday came The Victory—a Six for $1045 and up—the most spectacular engineering achievement of the decade.

These accomplishments, one following the other in steady progression, have now provided Dodge Brothers Dealers throughout the world with the most diversified and comprehensive line of passenger and commercial vehicles ever manufactured and sold by a single organization.

For every need and purse there is now a Dodge Brothers vehicle built dependably and in full recognition of the progressive ideals of today and tomorrow.

Adhering rigidly to the sound and honorable standards of a great past, Dodge Brothers have met the challenge of a still more exacting future.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The industrial and motor stocks were bent backward by a flood of selling orders in the first period today, and losses in the speculative leaders ranged from 1 to 5 points. Offerings of stock originated mostly in the professional quarters, where the failure of Saturday's market to make any headway on President Coolidge's statement on brokers' loans was taken as a sign of weakness in its technical position.

Activity on the selling side of the market in this period was as pronounced as the enthusiastic buying in the first hour on Saturday. Large blocks of United States Steel, General Motors, International Nickel, Westinghouse, Greene Cananea Copper, Nash Motors and other speculative favorites were thrown on the market at the opening gong, and a new 8 point drop in Greene Cananea helped along the "campaign" of the professionals for lower prices.

ing the unsuspecting victims to their death after professing friendship by buying them candy. Feeling against the killer soared to a high pitch during the trial.

Evidence against Winter was largely circumstantial, but he was identified by a merchant as the man who bought candy for Alex and Helen Sabo on the day they were killed. This was so convicting to the jurors that they recommended the extreme penalty, and the state's highest courts sustained their verdict.

Friends of Winter and opponents of capital punishment brought up his war record in France in their repeated pleas for clemency. They said that shell shock might have caused temporary insanity, but the state sanity experts found Winter sane.

"I am innocent of the slaying of the two children," were Winter's last words.

Winter Sleeps Soundly

He slept soundly until 5 a. m. though Myers remained awake through the night.

At 6 a. m. with but an hour to live, the condemned Pittsburgh man was served with a special breakfast of which he partook heartily and with evident relish.

His last meal finished, Winter received the Rev. C. I. Osborne, the prison chaplain. The clergyman remained with him to the end.

At 7:01, Winter was strapped in the chair and a moment later, at 7:02, Executioner Elliott threw the switch which sent 2,000 volts at 12 amperes through Winter's body. Dr. C. J. Newcomb, the prison physician, pronounced him dead at 7:07 a. m.

The bodies of both men executed will remain in the little death house in the center of the prison yard until noon when Dr. Newcomb will perform the autopsy.

This afternoon Winter's body will be taken to a Bellefonte undertaking establishment and there prepared for shipment to Pittsburgh. It will leave Bellefonte either late tonight or tomorrow and upon arrival in Pittsburgh will be received by his parents it is understood here that he will be given a military funeral by the World War veterans who fought with him in France.

The body of Myer will be claimed here by his parents.

Talked With Children

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 9.—"I was talking with the children when I took a strange buzzing in the head. What happened after I dont' know. If I murdered the children I don't remember."

This was Raymond Winter's own description of the slaying of Alexander and Helen Sabo, for whose deaths Winter today paid with his life in the electric chair. Winter told his story to Pittsburgh police.

SENATE INQUIRY INTO SUBMARINE DISASTER LOOMS

pressed by Senator King (D) of Utah.

"I favor congress making the investigation," said King. "If we were sure that we'd get men of the highest characters, wholly uninfluenced by politics and free from connection with the administration and navy, a civilian commission would be aceptable. But I don't think it is possible to get such a commission, not while the president is allowed to appoint the members on recommendations from the secretary of the navy.

"I feel too that politics lie behind the administration's request for a civilian commission. Senator Walsh (D) of Mass., had written a letter to the naval affairs committee, serving notice that he would ask for a senatorial inquiry. It was clear that congress intended to investigate this terrible disaster and to fix responsibility for it. It looks to me as though the administration moved hurriedly to avert this inquiry by proposing another one which it could control. After all, congress is the representative of the people and the people's representative ought to investigate this disaster."

Money talks, perhaps, but pa says his doesn't make any more noise than a jew's-harp in a symphony orchestra.

workers said here this afternoon as they penetrated the portion of the mine wrecked by an explosion shortly after the day shift of 700 men went to work this morning.

The bodies of Carl Jones and Dave McPhail, the dead men, will be brought to the surface late this afternoon under present plans as rescue workers are directing their energies now to reach the men still entombed and possibly asphyxiated by the dread after damp.

Many of the men rescued were overcome for a time by the gas, but there is no danger of them dying from its effects, officials said.

MENU HINT

I am submitting two breakfast menus with the query: what is wrong with the first one? Are you in the habit of planning your meals so that they have balance? That is, so that they contain all the elements needed to keep the body healthy? The first menu contains a preponderance of starches. The second varies the food so that the vitamins are taken care of as well as starches and protein.

Sliced Bananas
Fried Potatoes Cinnamon Rolls
Doughnuts Coffee

Second Menu

Oranges or Sliced Bananas and Oranges

Scrambled or Poached Eggs

TODAY'S RECIPES

Fried Potatoes—Heat a little fat (one-half to one teaspoonful, according to amount of potatoes), butter, lard and butter mixed, or meat drippings, in the frying pan. Slice cold boiled potatoes in hot fat, season with pepper and salt and fry until brown, then turn and brown on other side. Don't use much fat and don't let the potatoes get soaked with it.

Chocolate Nut Bar Cookies—One-half cup sugar, pinch salt, two eggs, one-half cup flour, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup chopped nuts, three tablespoons cocoa. Melt cocoa and butter over hot water. Beat in sugar, then eggs one at a time. Add salt and flour with baking powder in it. Chop nuts and add to mixture. Add flavoring. Bake in pan, then cut into squares. These can be frosted.

Modification Of Dry Amendment Offers No Solution To Problem

Gifford Gordon Speaks Of Prohibition In U. S. At Rotary Meeting

Eulogizes America For Taking Lead In Move For Dry World

The results of five and one-half years of close observation of the working out of the 18th Amendment, results gathered in over 100,000 miles of travel, were given to the New Castle Rotary club at noon today when they were addressed by Gifford Gordon, an Australian, at the first meeting of the club held since the holiday season. The meeting took place in the crystal ball room of The Castleton.

"America has outlawed liquor traffic because of her great religious institutions," Mr. Gordon commented. "Booze and ideals can never go hand in hand. They did not in ancient Greece and Rome, and the same ideals still hold today. The noblest thing that America has ever done in the name of God and Christianity is to outlaw the liquor traffic.

"But, how can the nation, and particularly the cynics, expect that prohibition in the United States will be enforced, when the entire world is opposed to the movement? How can they expect to have a dry nation when the law has been in effect only eight short years, and man's appitite for booze is as ancient as time?

"I will say this: The only way in which the world will ever be dry is through the leadership of America.

"And, the amendment is constitutional: It was constitutional when it was written in the Constitution, and since that time it has been submitted to the Supreme Court of the nation.

"Some people beg for modification. The answer to their plea is: Go, and see for yourselves the countries who have had prohibition and then have modified their laws. There is no solution in modification. After five and one half years of study, I am safe to say that rigid enforcement is the only way out, that and unswerving allegience to the 18th Amendment."

Mr. Gordon also eulogised United States, and told of the many things that the other nations of the world owe to the Republic.

At the next meeting, District Governor Charles F. Wohl will be present and take charge of the meeting, but in case it is impossible for Mr. Wohl to appear, the regular business session will take place.

Noted Speakers Are On Program

Membership Dinner For Chamber Of Commerce On Wednesday Night

STATE SECRETARY FOSS IS SPEAKER

The Chamber of Commerce membership dinner to be held in the crystal ball room of The Castleton on Wednesday evening, January 11, at 6 o'clock has all the indications of being one of the best affairs ever sponsored by the chamber, is the opinion of Alfred W. Chilton, secretary.

In addition to the large number of residents of New Castle and the surrounding communities who plan to attend, many out of city guests have indicated their intention of attending.

As the principal speakers of the evening the Chamber of Commerce has secured George E. Foss, general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, and the Hon. Fred T. Fruit, attorney at law of Sharon, who is secretary of the Beaver and Shenango Valley Conservation association. These men are known nationally, asserts Mr. Chilton, and should prove to be a premiere attraction.

Other men of prominence who will attend the banquet include: E. K. Morse of Pittsburgh, engineering member of the water and power resources board; E. C. Brown, chief engineer of the Carnegie Steel corporation; George Collord, president of the Shenango Furnace company; Ralph Ferris, engineer of the Pymatuning dam project of Linesville, Pa.; A. R. Gridwood, president, and William E. Matthews, secretary of the Sharon Chamber of Commerce; Frederick Webster, president, and L. G. McIntyre, secretary of the Beaver Falls Chamber of Commerce; I. J. Porter, president, and N. F. Rearic, secretary of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce, and R. R. McCalla, vice president of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Light & Power company.

Entertainment will be furnished by the P. & O. orchestra, which wil play throughout the dinner. In addition, Miss Grace Straw, widely known vocalist, and Miss Emma Cook, a professional reader, will render numbers. The meeting is in charge of the forum meeting committee of the chamber, consisting of T. W. Dickey, O. P. Brown and J. H. Lamb. A large number of reservations have been received at the offices of the chamber, and more are expected.

Mr. Chilton wishes those who intend to be present at the affair and who as yet have not sent in their reservations, to do so at once, so that a final list of guests may be made up.

Pension Increases Are Requested For Widows In District

Monthly Pensions Would Be Increased To $150 If Bills Pass

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of the News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9. — Seven bills providing pension increases to widows of Civil War veterans residing in his district, were introduced in the House of Representives by Congressman J. Howard Swick of Beaver Falls.

The bills, if passed, would provide increases from $30 to $50 in the monthly pension payments to the following:

Mrs. Susan Burtner, R. F. D. 3, Butler, widow of John E. Butler, late of Company C, 100th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. McCreary, R. F. D. 2, Edinburg, widow of Robert S. McCreary, late of Company B, Fifth Pennsylvania Volunteer Heavy Artillery.

Mrs. Catherine Shaffer, R. F. D. 4, New Castle, widow of Asel Shaffer, late of Campany B. First Regiment Pennsylvania Light Artillery.

Mrs. Maggie L. Brown, Wallace avenue, New Castle, widow of Lafayette B. Brown, late of Company M, Third Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Heavy Artillery.

Mrs. Mary E. Critchlow, Winter avenue, New Castle, widow of Henry C. Critchlow, late of Company B, 139th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry.

Mrs. Mary Levenia Chambers, New Castle, widow of Thomas H. Chambers, late of Company F, 100th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry.

Mrs. Margaret Usselton, New Castle, widow of William C. Usselton, late of Company I, 140th Regiment Pennsylvania Infantry.

Widows who were married to Civil War veterans during their period of service are entitled to pension increases under the general law. Special bills are necessary, however, to obtain increases for those who became the wives of veterans after their discharge from service.

The bills have been referred to the committee on Invalid Pensions for consideration.

We often wonder why they are called the secrets of success. Everybody is always telling them to everybody else.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

For another year, Sport will have a license tag and can roam the streets of the North Hill safe from any attack of officers. Sport's license is being bought today and the acting dog of Sheridan avenue district is happy, or ought to be.

You may recall Sport. When the students of the Senior High School Dramatic club presented Pollyanna some weeks ago Sport proved to be one of the stars. Took his bows with all the aplomb of a John Barrymore, and then invited the audience to do it again.

It developed that he was a sort of a community dog, of sort of indefinite ancestry but with a million dollar's worth of personality. The boys and girls up around Sheridan and Garfield avenues had adopted him and by collecting their nickles and dimes had gotten him a license.

On Saturday Frank Stiritz and Perry Reeher, two young friends of Sport's came into the office and said that the time was now ripe for another license for the dog. Anybody who wouldn't kick in for a cause like that is no friend of dogs and they had no difficulty here. This morning I got a letter from Miss Virginia Reeher who was the lead of the Pollyanna play on the first night and she states that the following friends helped the license fund along: Mrs.. J. L. Cole, Mrs. F. B. Brown, Mrs. W. F. Stiritz, Mrs. M. R. Newbury, Mrs. Chauncey Hettenbaugh and Mrs. P. L. Reeher.

The letter goes on to say that they had 25 cents left over so they bought Sport a cake of dog soap. Formerly just ordinary soap was used but after his star performance in Pollyanna the youngsters felt that he was entiled to regular dog soap.

Now the next thing is to get Sport a regular collar.

Rainbows in January are a little out of the ordinary but J. Audley Boak, well known orchardist of this county saw one Saturday. Mr. Boak reported seeing it in the north. This may augur an early spring or it may augur snow on Ground Hog day or it may augur a heavy crop of elderberries. Anyway Mr. Boak saw it.

Once in a while the roaming is done in a musical way and over this week end I heard what might be called a "Renaissance of Rag Time." If you are past the college stage you are probably old enough to recall such good old favorite as "Blue Bell," "Just As the Sun Went Down," "I Guess I'll Have to Telegraph My Baby," "I Never Drink Behind the Bar," "Sweet Rosy O'Grady" and a host of others like them. They had no "blues' songs then no "jazz" but those old songs had something which has kept them alive for the years and that's something you can't say about some of the musical idiosyncracies we get these days.

The post-holiday lethargy which followed the Christmas vacation has been shaken off and the banqueteers are getting active. Just now the assignment book of the editor of this great family newspaper looks like an advertisement of a wholesale grocery.

A few of them and not nearly all are New Castle Baseball club, Outdoor Advertising association, W. C. T. U., Inter-Collegiate Journalistic convention and every day adds one to the list.

In the days before Volstead a reported had to be able to take it or leave it alone but these days a reporter has to have a gastronomic mechanism that defies banquets.

Girl Scout Rally At Junior High Is Great Success

Hundred Per Cent Of All Troops Present But Two; Bugle Won By Keystone Troop

The Girl Scout Rally held Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium of the Franklin Junior High School was voted a great success. About seventy five girls were present, all but two of the troops having one hundred per cent in that line.

Visitors were present from Kittanning, Sharon, Woodlawn and Ellwood City.

Miss Adelaide Werner, regional director expressed herself well pleased with the program. The scouts taking part ranged in size from ten to nineteen years.

The bugle presented by Miss Elizabeth Reis was won by Keystone Troop of Troop One of which Miss Pauline Gilkey is captain. The presentation speech was made by Miss Werner in a fitting manner at the close of the moving pictures.

Tea was served in the model apartment under the direction of Miss Gress, domestic science teacher of that school, by Girl Scouts. The sandwiches were most attractive and dainty and the New Castle Council of Girl Scouts deeply appreciate Miss Gress' courtesy in this matter.

The girls and leaders feel that the Rally was of great benefit to them and want to have another at a later date.

A conference was held in the evening at 7:30 in Trinity church school room. It was decided that these conferences were very valuable in helping each other to solve their problems. Another will be held next fall, the time and place to be announced later.

The first training class was conducted this morning at 10 o'clock in Trinity church school room and was entirely on first class work.

The following is a schedule of the training class: Tuesday, 2 to 4, first class; 7:30 to 9, second class.

Wednesday, 2 to 4 first class; 7:30 to 9, second class.

It is hoped all leaders and lieutenants will attend these meetings and anyone having an interest in scouting.
